We are the Eagles of Abilene High School

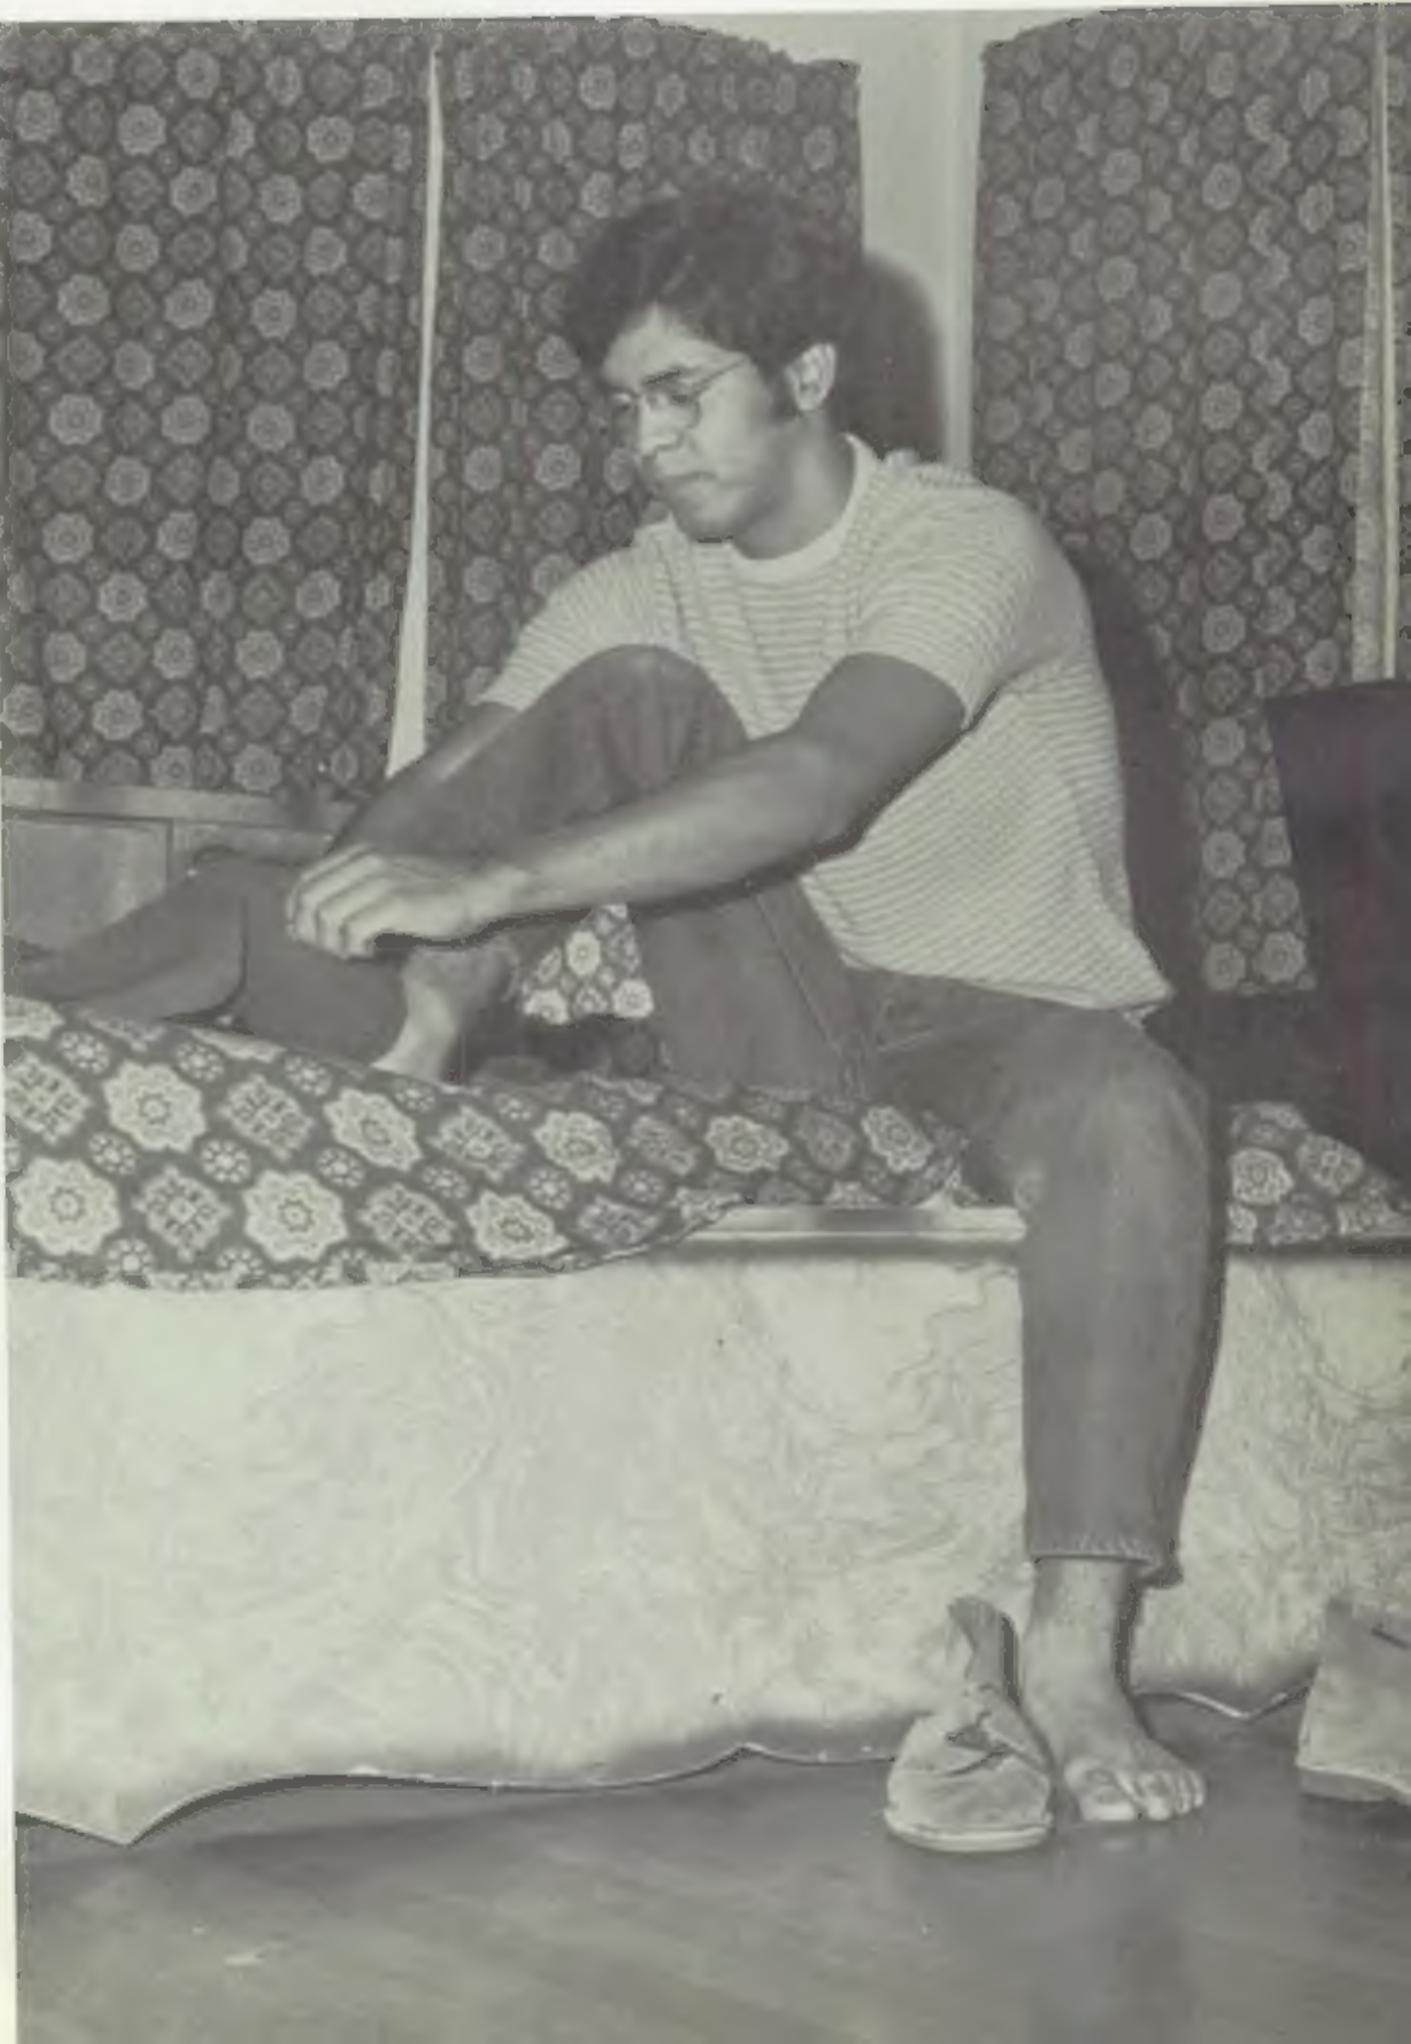

When we begin our careers at Abilene High, we establish an identity of who we are, and what we do, as individuals, groups, and a student body. We enter as green sophomores with anxieties, fears and excitement for our new surroundings. As juniors, we acquire the confidence that comes with experience and begin to look forward to becoming seniors. After our days of pride and glory as mighty seniors, we leave Abilene High—some happily, others stricken at the thought of leaving a place so full of special friends and memories . . . but the precious memories of who we were, and what we did in 1970-71 will linger in our minds forever.

Morning arrives much too early for some

We wake—
Some to the merciless clatter
of an alarm,
Some to a gentle mother's calling . . .
Hurry . . . dress . . .
rush . . . grab a bite to eat
And begin the adventure of another day.

Arrival begins another day

We come—
Some early; on time
some later
than others,
But we all come
with a purpose
in mind—
To learn . . .
ask questions . . .
develop . . .
Or just to occupy the fleeing minutes and hours.

School demands much time

We work—
Alone as individuals, or together as
groups and teams,
With our close friends and everyday acquaintances, Seeking . . .
thinking . . .
learning . . .
How we might conquer
ignorance through education.

...but we always find time for other things

We play—
For the splendor of glory or simple pleasure.
The leisure hours are our own
to do as we please—
Relax . . . frolic . . .
rest . . .
compete . . .
Or spend precious moments with those we love.

We dedicate the '71 Flashlight to Mr. Irwin

We have made this choice because of our deep respect and admiration for you. You have constantly involved yourself with us, not only as a teacher, but much more important, as a friend, willing to share with us joy and sadness, experiences of glorious victory and bitter defeat. Never reluctant to extend a helping hand, you have offered a source of guidance and understanding for many during their careers at Abilene High. Because we truly appreciate your involvement, concern, and dedication to us, we dedicate the 1971 Flashlight to you, Mr. Max Irwin.

One of Mr. Irwin's many responsibilities is the operation of the student store, created for the convenience of the student . . . Extra minutes found themselves utilized by Mr. Irwin as he helps Kay Harrison, Kay Hinton and Danny Williams assemble Eagle "Spirit flags" . . . Serving as sponsor and advisor for the Student Council, Mr. Irwin sits in on a special planning session of the homecoming committee.

Award recipients represent various fields

Spring distinguished itself as a time for honoring various notable facets of school life. The year '69-70 was a triumphant year for Abilene High. Honors streamed in from a multitude of school-connected areas.

At an early spring assembly, outstanding students were recognized by the school; at a later time student representatives had opportunity to present trophies and awards to AHS.

In statewide competition, the drama troupe received a second place rating. District honors were won by baseball and track teams. Bi-district honors went to the basketball team, which also advanced to regional play-offs.

In all fields, both academic and athletic, AHS was well represented.

Mr. Harold Wilder, coach of the highly ranked AHS basketball team, was awarded a plaque for his contribution to the school's athletic program . . . At the spring ACC track meet, AHS was represented by their team . . . A cutting of the spring production "Merton at the Movies" was carried to district, regional and state by the AHS drama department.

As the time approached for receiving diplomas, tenseness reflected in the faces of '70 seniors . . . For his third successive district winning play, Mr. Hammond, drama teacher, was awarded the Gold "A" at the spring award's assembly . . . Mary McGinn, one of the "Spirit of Athletics" honorees, accepted a bouquet from the "A" Association . . . The athletic assembly of '69-'70 was closed by the singing of "Dear Old Abilene High," led by the cheerleaders

Excited seniors Colleen Saltzman, Kathy Bunkley, Larry Chapman, and Carol Glick delightedly compare the differences in their senior rings on the day of ring arrivals . . . Under direction of whistle and megaphone, seniors were assembled for their group picture . . . Band members' early morning hours during the fall were occupied by marching practice

Early school routine established in August

Adjustment to school routine came a little too early for some students, for summer vacation slipped away in late August rather than early September.

With the first summer school days, books were assigned, and sophomores eased into the flow of students in the halls. Skirts and hair tapered to meet new school policies.

Football season, with excitement and tenseness, followed on the heels of August, reaching its peak at October homecoming.

The many-faceted extracurricular activities of AHS were well founded by October. Exchangees arrived home with a multitude of experiences to be related, while speech and drama students had tournament accomplishments to share.

Fall evenings of drama students were utilized in rehearsal for Stage Center, a September production. Appearing in "A Cry of Players" were Bonnie Schroeder and Danny Williams, while Svanhaniel Crim and Steve Jenkins were cast for roles in "Next" . . . During September class elections, sponsors tabulated votes as sophomores indicated their choices.

Hopeful queen nominees, Bonnie Young, Roseann Henniger, and Kay Hinton anticipate election results during the pep rally . . . Even mascot Ruth Ann Caldwell stands at attention during the school song . . . Homecoming activities of 1970 were dedicated to Mr. Escoe Webb, seven teen-year principal of AHS.

Excitement climaxes at annual homecoming

Escorted by David King, Bonnie Young was crowned 1970 Homecoming queen. Excited Eagle fans released balloons after the evening's first touchdown. Crowned Coming Home Queen before the game was Mrs. King, from the class of 1950, accompanied by her son David.

Two celebrities speak at AHS assemblies

Although the exchange trip began at a pre-dawn hour, wide-awake eyes of sponsors, Mrs. Dooey and Mr. Inzer, along with student exchangees, Dale Henry and Brent Schkade, viewed a full agenda. On his second Abilene appearance, Barry Wood, Hollywood minister, was featured guest at an early October assembly . . . When Miss America of '65 entertained AHS in a variety assembly, Tommy Runyan had the opportunity of being her personal "dummy." . . . Donated by the '70 senior class, the large sign board was updated by Danny Williams.

Exes were welcomed to Homecoming activities by a bulletin board assembled by Danny Williams . . . NHS members prepare balloons Friday afternoon for the game that night . . . Exchangee Nita McGlothlin receives a warm homecoming welcome from Margaret Sanders upon her return from the exchange trip to Michigan.

College-bound seniors, Wesley Fletcher and Tyler Hamilton exchange ideas before the College Night program at Cooper High School

Directed by "quarterback" Jim Reese, a group of junior boys portrays the "Aardvark" football team in the Junior Assembly. In a mock wedding put on in home and family living, Kathy Parker and Richard Aguirre play roles of newlyweds. A dress code change permits Debra Curry, along with all other girls, to wear pantsuits to school. Laura White and J. K. Gregory go through a tender scene from "The Brick and the Rose."

Drizzly weather accompanies Cooper clash

With Autumn's crisp, chilly air came the drama department's fall production "Kaleidoscope," featuring three one-acts, "Humulus the Mute," "The Brick and the Rose," and "Autograph Hound." Excitement continued to rise with football season's final game, the battle between AHS and Cooper, and the opening of basketball season.

In keeping with Thanksgiving, homerooms prepared baskets of food for needy families, and student council members distributed them after the traditional Thanksgiving Assembly. To the surprise and despair of many boys, girls returned from the holidays wearing pants suits, after a dress code amendment by the Abilene School Board.

Even cold, wet weather did not prevent football fans from attending the Abilene vs. Cooper football battle . . . Dane Jividen and Judy Thomas add the finishing touch to their homeroom's Thanksgiving box before taking it to the auditorium for the Thanksgiving assembly . . . Shooting baskets in pre-game drills, Andrew Harris warms up for a home game.

During club period, Pam Henderson, Bird Heslep and Kayla Ragan enjoy refreshments in the Flashlight Office . . . "Slaves" Randy Huett and Nita McGlothlin patiently but anxiously await their sale at the auction block . . . Performing in a skit put on by the math department at a faculty pot luck supper, Mr. Lamdin plays the role of a cowboy . . . Band parent and students alike got into the act on "Chili Day."

Santa Claus visits little Eagles in assembly

Enthusiasm and excitement continued to rise during the Christmas season as students involved themselves in various activities. Second year Latin students in the Roman Forum auctioned and bought "slaves" from first year Latin classes as a money-making project. Another project was the Eagle Band's annual Chili Day to raise money for a band trip to Corpus Christi.

To climax Yuletide activities, the band staged their traditional Christmas Assembly featuring the youngsters of several Abilene High faculty members with Santa Claus. Concert Choir performed seasonal music in a Christmas program also. The final activity period of 1970 was celebrated by homeroom Christmas parties in which students had refreshments and listened to records.

Santa Claus McAlpin listens to Amy Thor mahlen's list of gift requests . . . Eager young Eagles lend a hand in helping Mr Anderson direct the band . . Mr. McAlpin dressed as Santa Claus, tiptoes onto the stage to wait for his cue

Tap carnival relieves mid-term pressure

Upon returning from the Christmas holidays, students began preparing for those dreaded mid-term finals in anticipation of receiving credit for their semester's toil. Several additional activities including the National Honor Society's induction, "Apathy is Dead for Those Who Care," the Abilene High-Cooper livestock show, and Student Council's paid assembly featuring "Chris, Chris, and Lee," broke the monotony of mid-term studies.

New classes, new teachers, and blue-green cards marked the beginning of the spring semester, but school routine resumed after the brief period of confusion. Clubs and organizations aimed their efforts at making the TAP (Teens Against Paralysis) Carnival a major success. Working together, Abilene youth cleared about $12,000 to be used by the March of Dimes.

Junior Rick Rogers works diligently on his American history mid-term final in order to finish in the allotted two-hour period. "Under Milkwood," the spring production, took countless hours of preparation and rehearsal by drama students.

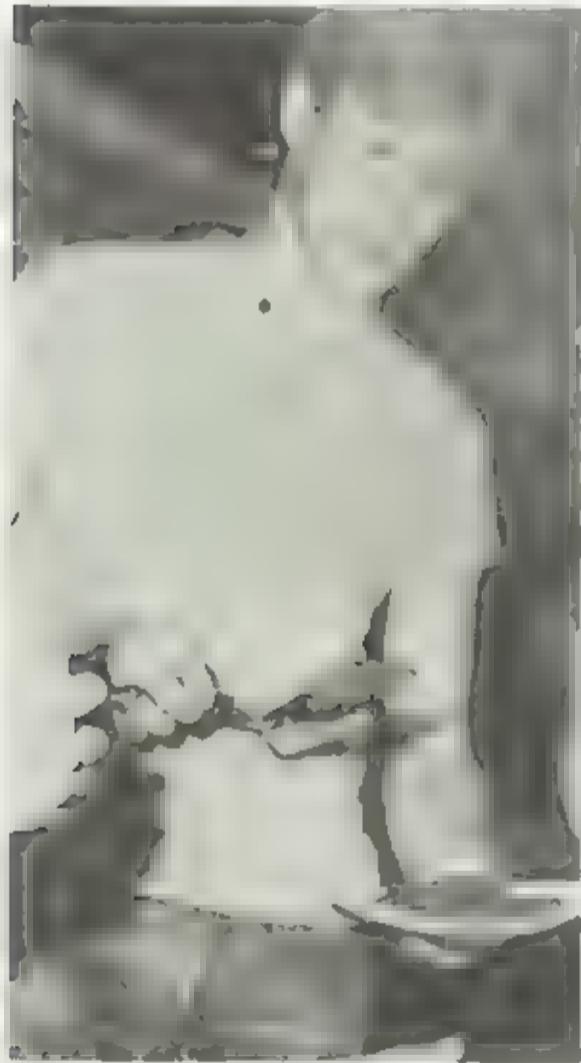

"Lovers" Jena Bodine and Edward Thomas were wheeled by Randall Cobb through the Ultimus "Tunnel of Love" at the TAP Carnival . . . Final touches to his prize winning Hereford heifer were added by Russell Weathersby at the Abilene High Cooper Livestock Show . . . Undersized Joe Alcorta Jr tries on an oversized sombrero at the Pan American Mexican Dinner

Snow flurries followed by "Spring Fever"

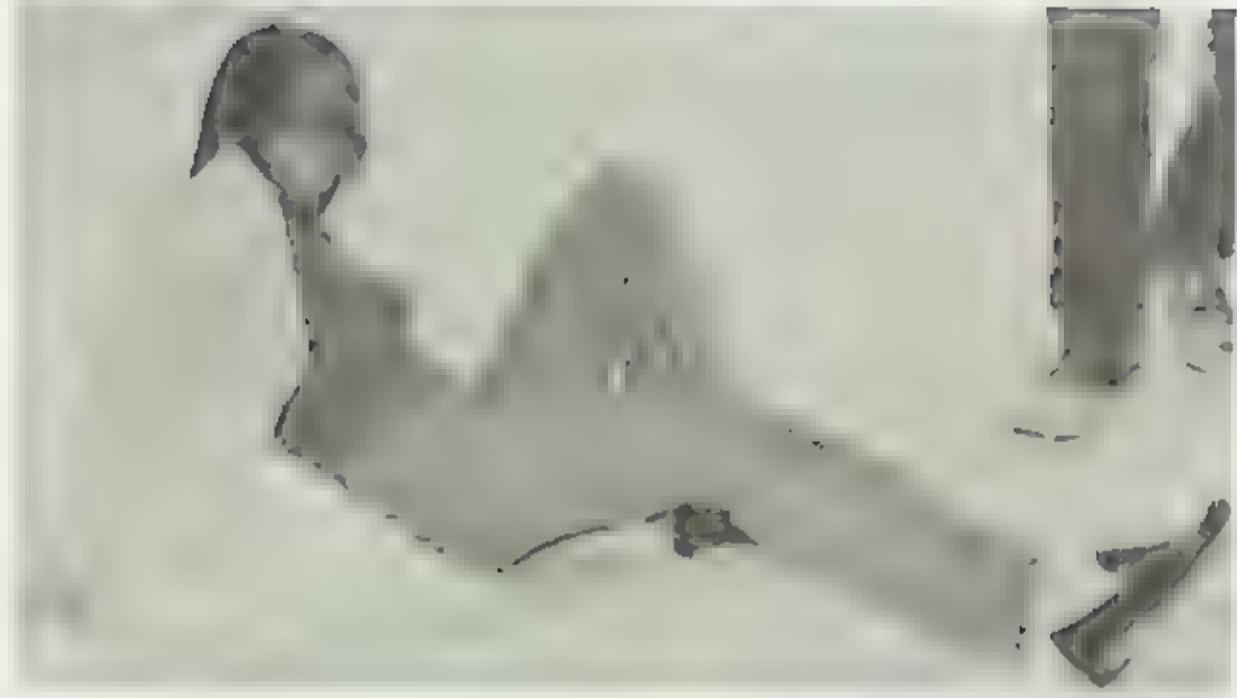

Snow whitened the AHS campus for one brief day in February, providing countless temptations for indulging in snowball fights and other related activities. Black History Week was observed with special displays and an assembly featuring State Representative Graves as the speaker.

National Honor Society sponsored its annual Valentine Post Office using "Spring Fever" as the theme. Candy, sealed sentiments and singing telegrams were delivered to love-struck Eagles by NHS members dressed in a wide variety of costumes. Drama '71 put in many extra hours of after-school rehearsing in preparation for their spring production, "Under Milkwood."

Smoke plagued Greg Stirman as he cooked hamburger patties at the NHS post-induction party . . . David Broom looks on as NHS members Pam Marshall, Will Moore, Ron O'Gorman and Nina Dunn prepare for a singing Valentine telegram from the VPO

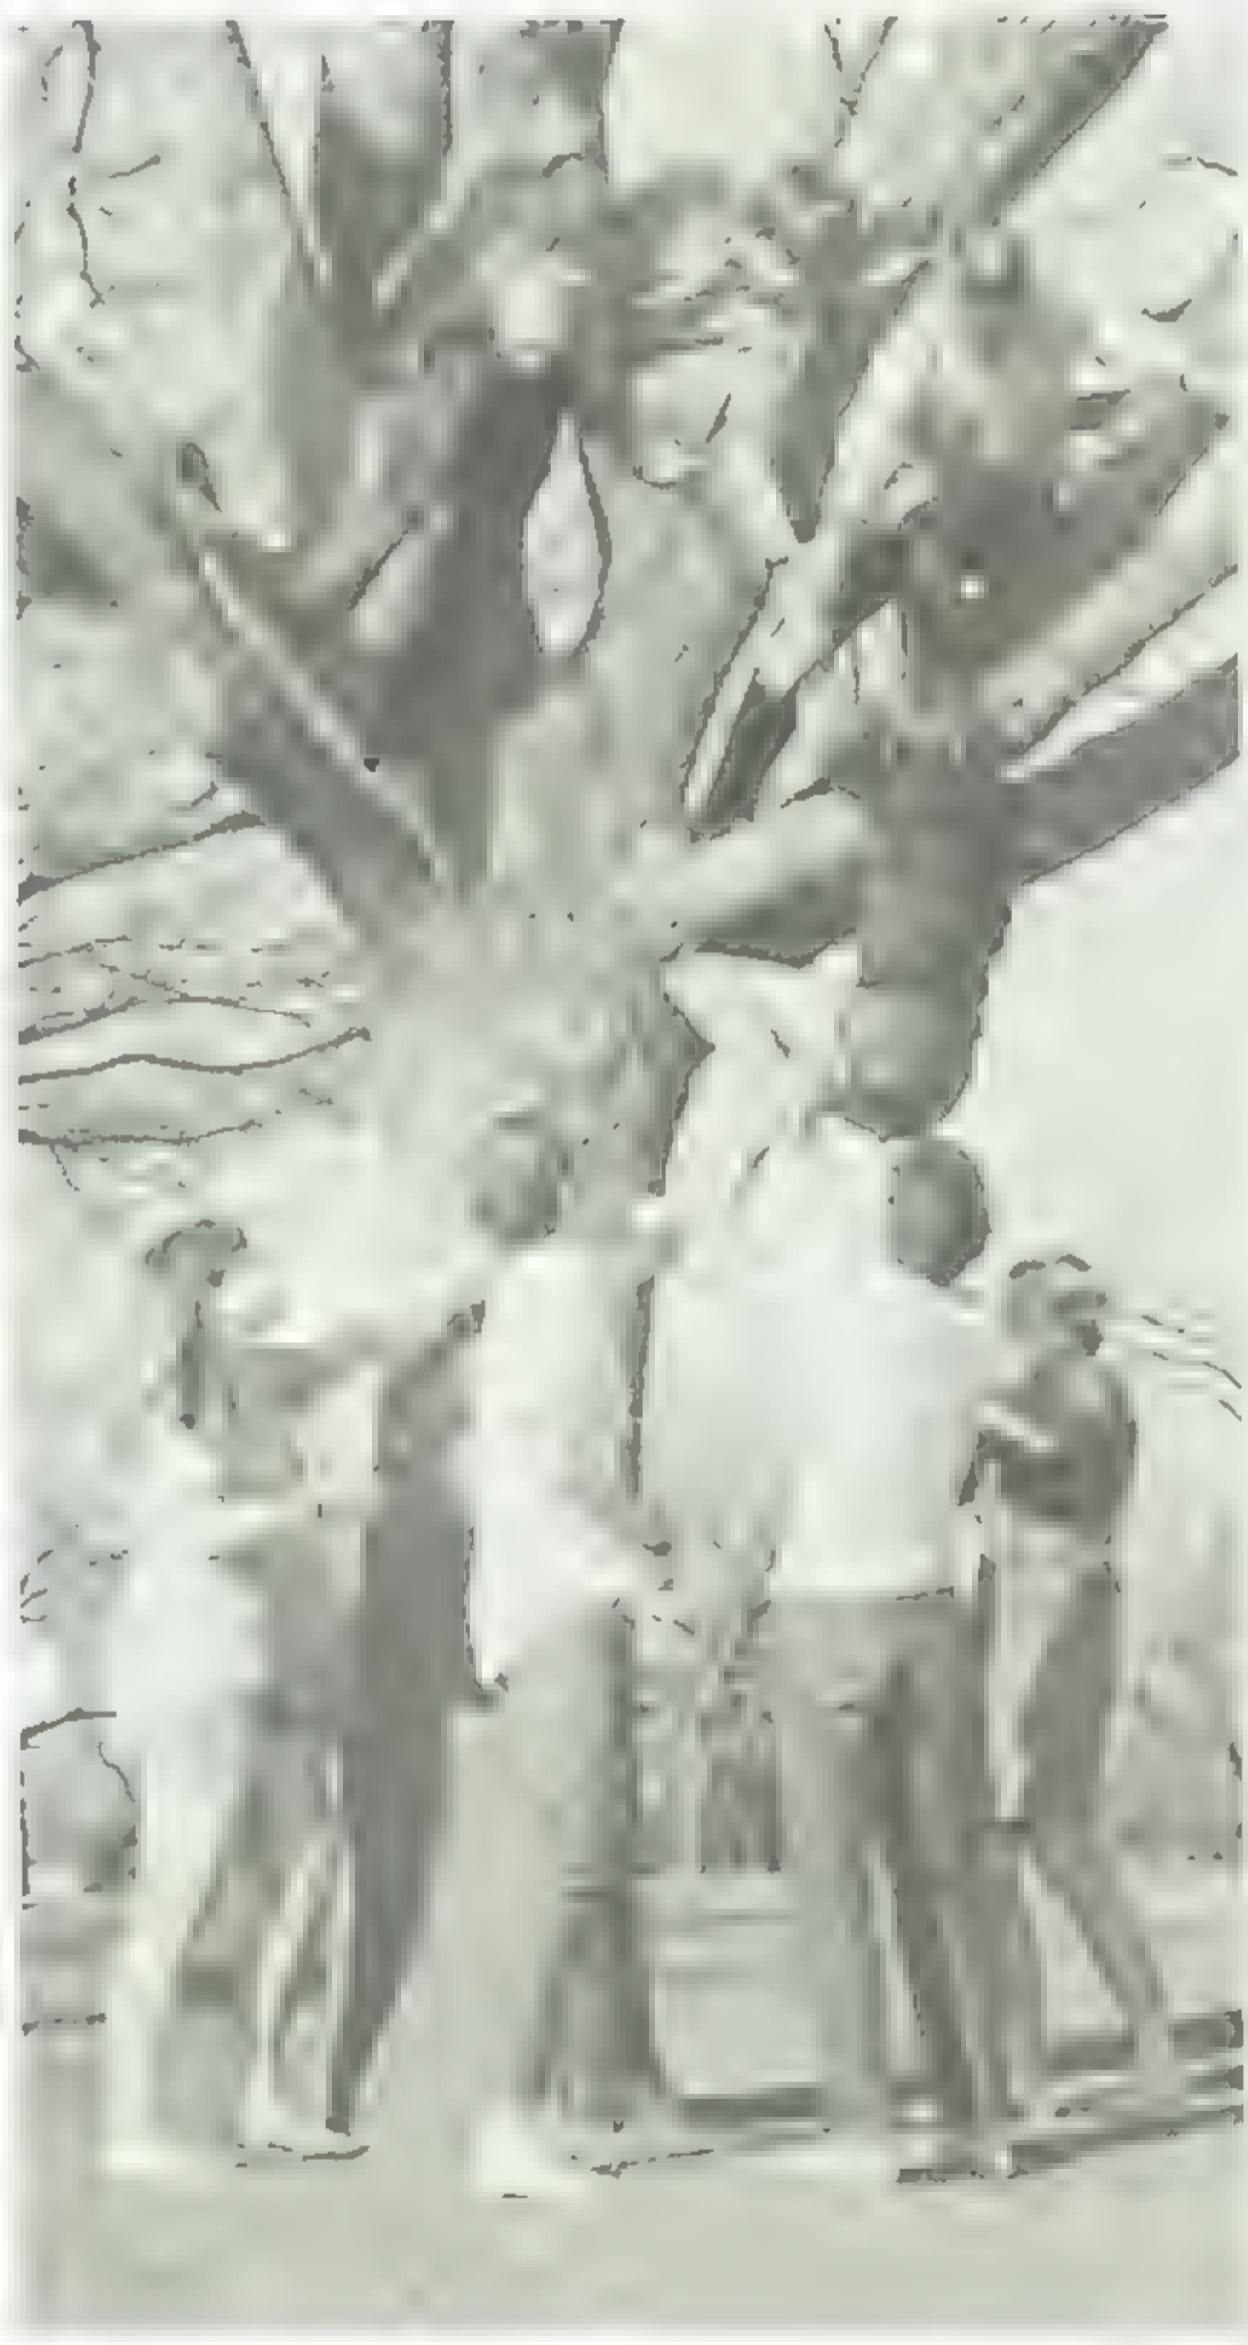

Cold, hard ground was felt by Debbie Lee better as she was thrown down during a snowfight . . . Concentrating on her work, Kathy Hanson letters a banner for VPO Diane Jividen, after performing in the pep rally skit, joins her fellow Eagles in cheering the basketball team on to a victory over Cooper

Seniors became involved in many activities

Invitations to graduation exercises were ordered by Cynthia Morse during a special senior meeting . . . Janice Pilgreen pauses a moment before digging into her pancakes at the senior breakfast at Sambo's . . . Frolicking seniors find tree climbing one of many choices of recreation at the senior picnic

On Senior Radio Day, receptionist Linda Odstrcil answers a phone call while Cherr Williams and Julie Montgomery stand by with instructions . . . Record selections are made by Becky Sheppard while Tim Adrian mans the control booth on Senior Radio Day . . . Wheelbarrow Clifton Dubose and driver Lynn Conaway contend for the wheelbarrowing championship at the senior picnic . . . Marcia Weaver approaches the stage at graduation

We excel . . .

Kay selected to reign as Flashlight Queen

Our outstanding Eagle, Kay Hinton possessed traits of scholarship, leadership, beauty and personality that won her the admiration of the whole student body. Kay devoted many hours to Student Council, serving as recording secretary, and worked hard as a two-year member of the National Honor Society. A member of Concert Choir, she furthered her interest in music outside school by involving herself in the "Citizens" and "Sixteens," both contemporary choral groups from First Baptist Church. Serving the community was important to her, and she offered this service as a member of Ultimus Tri-Hi-Y.

Indications of the respect and admiration held for her by the student body were evident when Kay was elected a runner-up for Homecoming Queen, but she has now been awarded one of the most distinguished honors given at Abilene High, the honor of Flashlight Queen.

Stan and Linda chosen as Mr. & Miss AHS

Leadership was truly exhibited by Stan Lambert. He served as president, as well as being elected favorite of both his sophomore and junior classes. As a senior, he not only presided over the entire student body, but also served as president of the District II Oilbelt Student Council Association. Stan excelled in both basketball and baseball competition.

Linda's vivacious, outgoing personality won her the love and respect of the student body. Representing true Eagle spirit in perfection, Linda never ceased to be involved. She was a three-year volleyball teamster, corresponding secretary of Student Council and Class Favorite as a junior, and head cheerleader as a senior. Linda was also a member of Siwamasis Tri-Hi-Y.

Sara and John are favorites with seniors

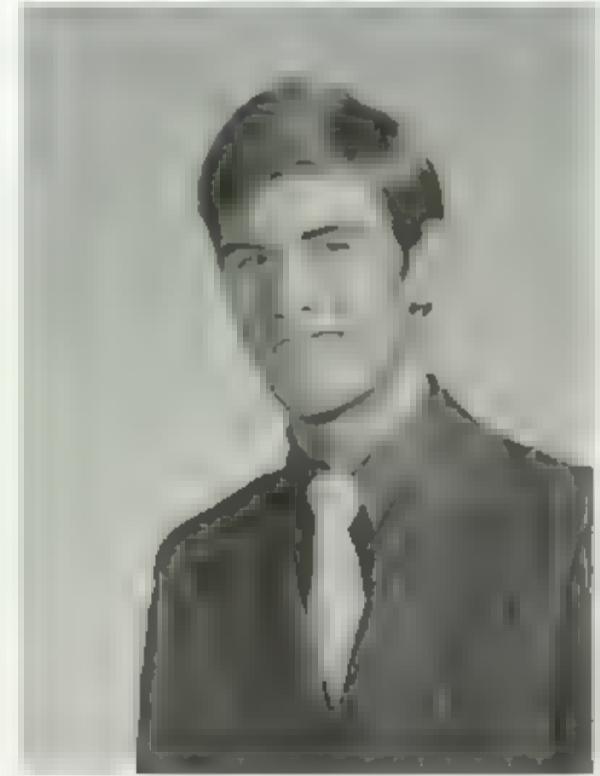

Her outgoing personality was a major factor in making Sara Winkles a selection for Senior Class Favorite. She was a very active and outstanding member of Concert Choir, serving as secretary of the organization. She represented AHS with her talents in both All-Region and All-State Choirs. Sara was also an active member of Student Council and Ta-Ta Tri-Hi-Y.

John Paige was recognized for qualities of leadership in athletics and other school activities. He presided over the "A" Association and served as vice-president of Student Council. John also exhibited excellent performances in both football and track activities.

Vicki and David represent juniors' choice

Charming, pretty Vicki Buck represented her classmates' selection for Junior Class Favorite. Vicki was an active varsity tennis teamster, a member of Student Council and Siwamasis Tri-Hi-Y.

David King utilized his outstanding skills in tennis competition to the advantage of the AHS varsity team. Serving as president of the Junior Class, his leadership and fine personality distinguished him as a favorite with the Junior Class. David was a member of YMIA Tri-Hi-Y.

Gary and Carolyn are outstanding sophs

Displaying an appealing, buoyant, friendliness, Carolyn Chapman was always on the go. A favorite among her fellow sophomores, she served them as secretary-treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Carolyn was a member of Siwamasis Tri-Hi-Y.

Gary Stirman, a member of YMIA Hi-Y, won the respect and appreciation of his classmates for his leadership and involvement. He served as president of the Sophomore Class and was active in Student Council work, football, basketball, and baseball. Gary was also a member of the March of Dimes executive council.

Who's Who

Proving himself to be a superior student in all phases, VERNON WILLIAMS has excelled in the areas of Latin, English, journalism, mathematics, and physics. Vernon was also a two-year member of NHS, feature editor of the Battery, and a National Merit semi-finalist . . . Outstanding in Student Council work, serving as treasurer of the student body, MARTHA WESTMORELAND also excelled in French and FTA. A member of Concert Choir and two-year member of NHS, KAY HINTON played an important role in Student Council as recording secretary . . . STAN LAMBERT won distinction as a true leader in athletics, scholarship, and extracurricular activities. Stan served as president of his sophomore and junior classes, as well as presiding over the entire student body as a senior. He also excelled in basketball and baseball competition.

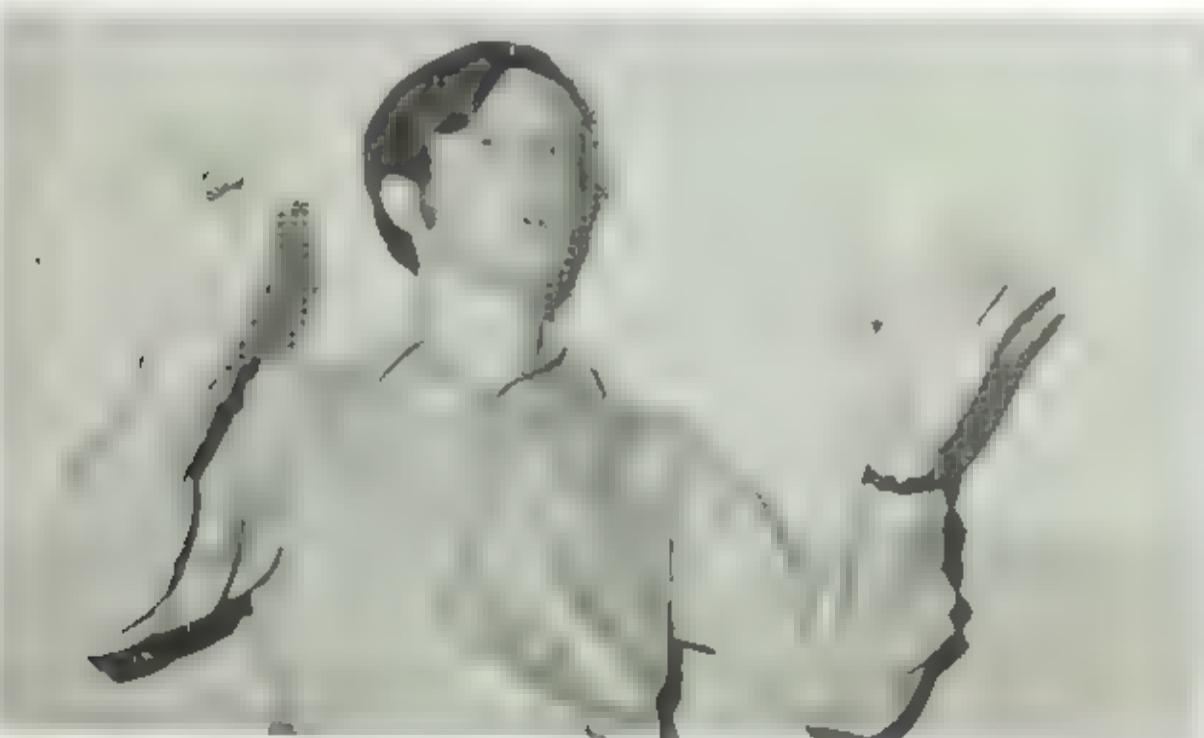

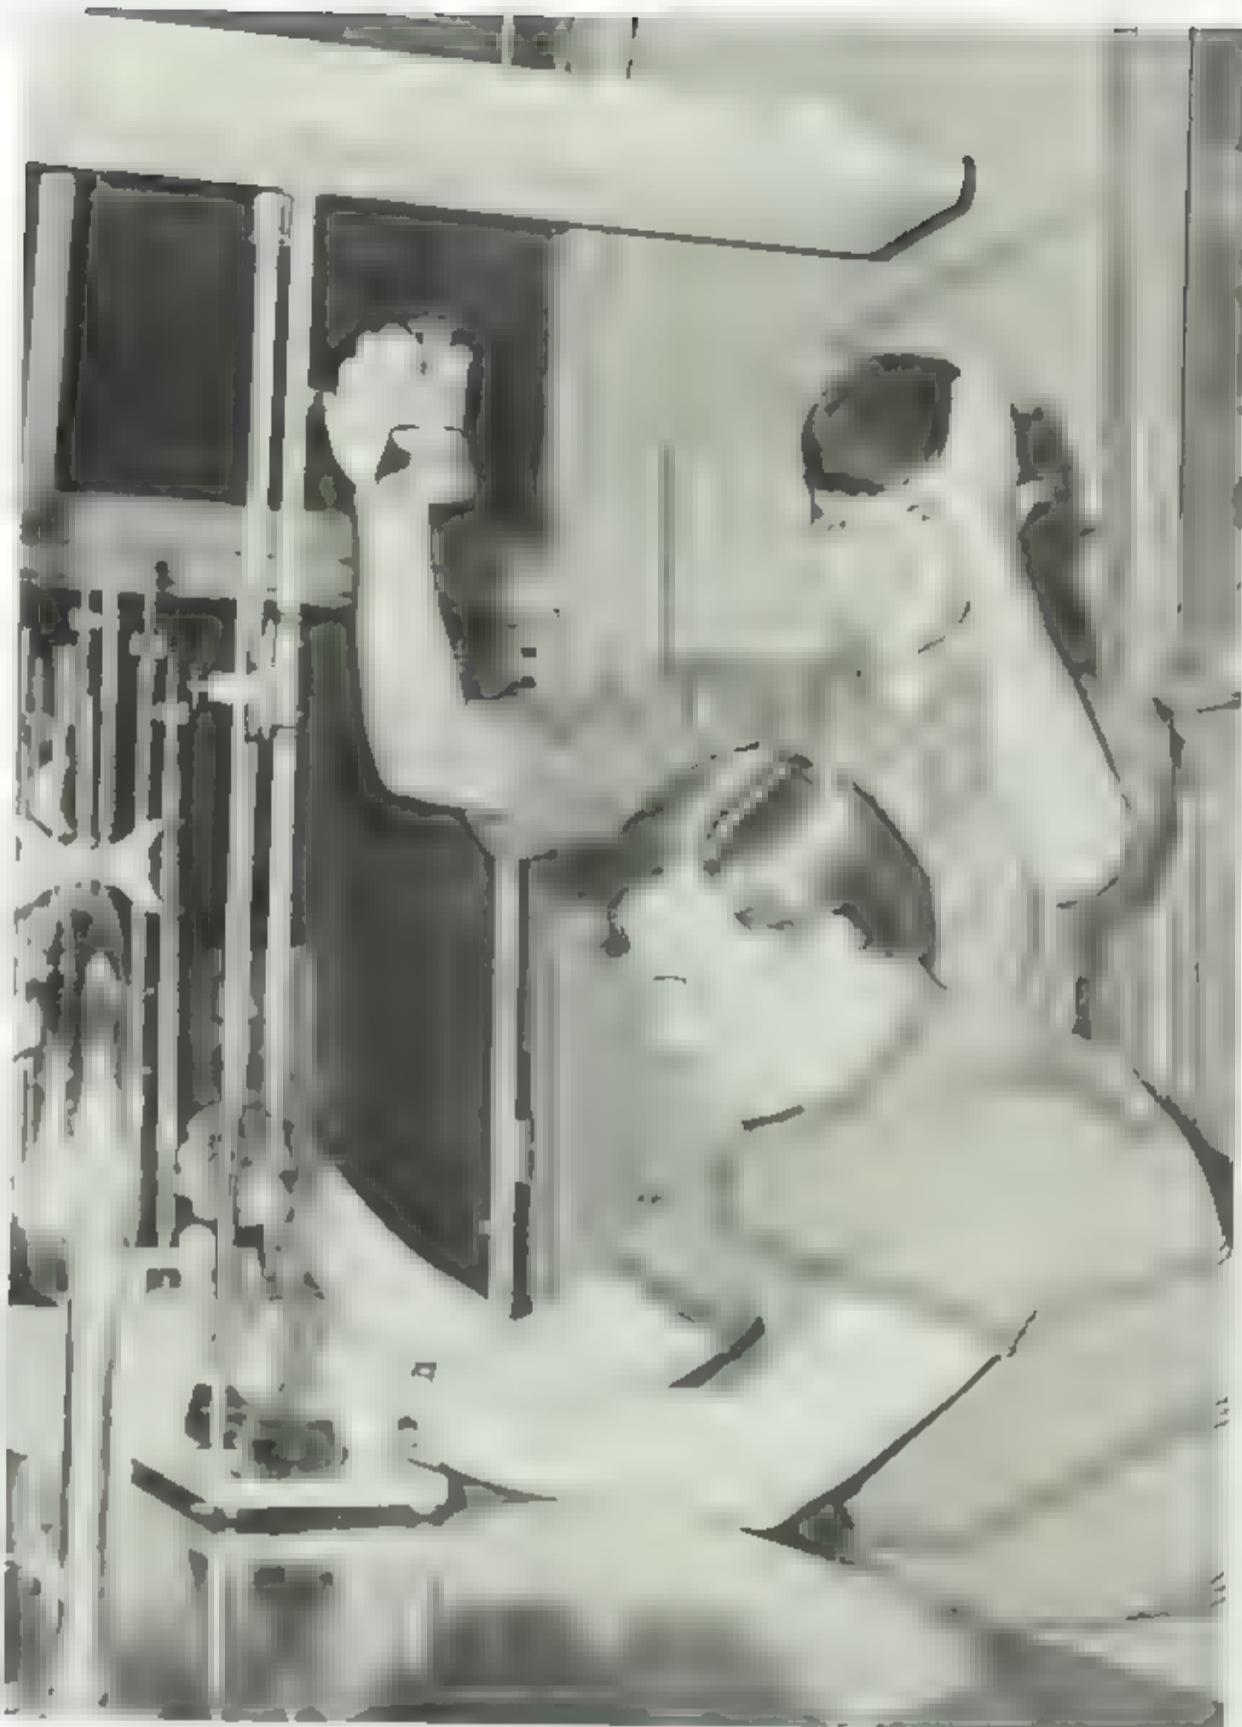

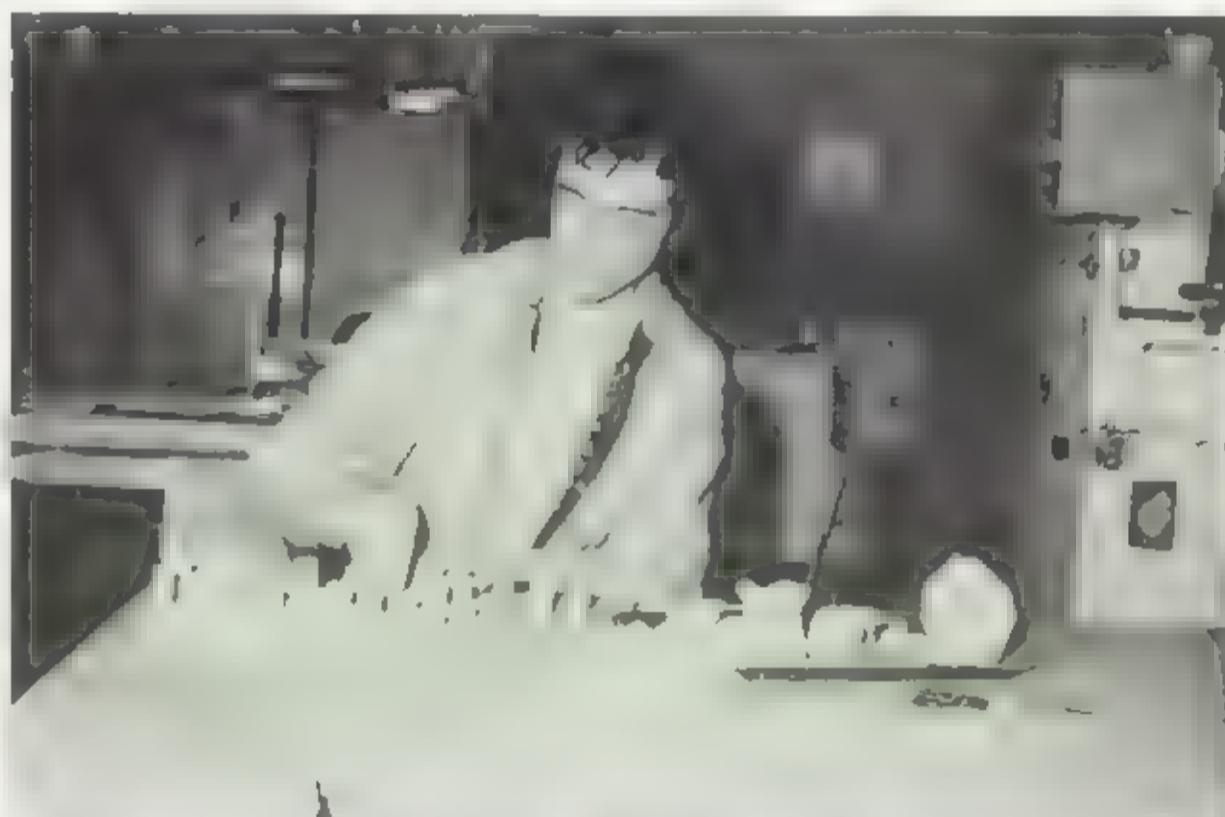

Superior talents in drama were displayed by both DENISE DENDY and GEORGE BERRY. Denise was a two-year member of both NHS and Student Council. George, a three-year member of Student Council, was honored as Regional Best Actor in 1970, and made the State All-Star Cast . . . GUY ROSSER excelled in classwork, especially English and biology . . . Doing exceptional work in VOE was KATHY BARSCH, a two-year member of NHS . . . CLAYTON PURSLEY, a two-year member of NHS, exhibited outstanding efforts in data processing, bookkeeping and Concert Choir . . . Excelling in VOE and band was TERRI KELLEY, a two-year member of NHS.

Who's Who

JUDY WATSON, a two-year member of NHS excelled in homemaking and FHA work . . . Qualities of top scholarship were displayed in all classwork, especially chemistry, by two-year member DAVID BUCKLES

CLIFTON DUBOSE proved to be outstanding in chemistry as well as athletics. Clifton was a member of Student Council and a two-year member of NHS . . . Serving as student director of both the band and choir was RONNIE MAYFIELD, outstanding soloist in both organizations. Ronnie was a member of Regional Band, as well as Regional, Area, and All-State Choirs . . . ANN THRELKELD also deserved recognition for her outstanding achievements as a band and choir member. Ann was a member of Regional Band, Regional, Area, and All-State Choirs.

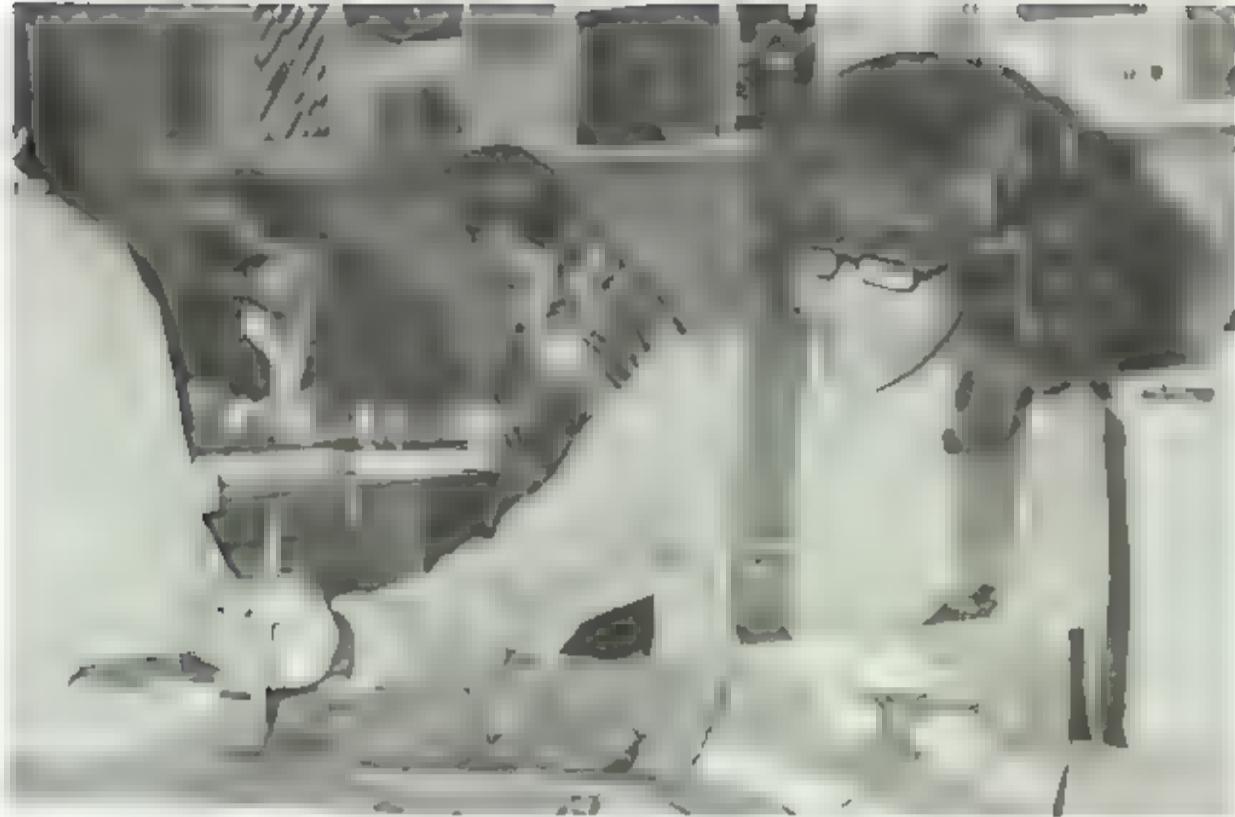

Two-year member of NHS, BURGESS HESLEP distinguished herself as editor of the Flashlight . . . NINA DUNN worked diligently in preparation for NHS activities, serving as secretary of the organization. Nina also excelled in English and was editor of the Aquila . . . Hardworking ALICE AGNEW served as editor of the Battery. Alice was a two-year member of NHS . . . SHANE FOX served as president of NHS, was a member of the MOD executive council, and excelled in golf . . . TOM DEAN won recognition for his creativity and excellence in the art department . . . GUY MCNUTT displayed outstanding work in raising livestock and other agriculture activities

Who's Who

Outstanding achievements were made by NHS member DENISE GREEN in English and speech. Denise was also a member of Student Council . . . DALE HUFF, member of NHS, was an all-round excellent student, putting forth special effort in basketball . . . Exhibiting talents in debate and English was NHS member MARILYN KOLLY . . . BONNIE SCOGGIN, two-year member of NHS was awarded the DAR Good Citizen award. Bonnie was an active member of Student Council, a volleyball letter man, and an outstanding French student . . . Two-year NHS member PAM MARSHALL excelled in English and social studies.

Special recognition goes to departing four

Abilene High students said good bye to four devoted teachers who have contributed greatly to furthering education. Three of these teachers—Mrs. Inez Robinson, Mrs. Kathryn Morrow, and Miss Helen Meyer—compiled a total of fifty-eight years of service to Abilene High. Biology, junior English, and senior English are the respective subjects taught by these teachers.

Coming to us for a short period of two years from Jodpur, India, was Mr. Narandra Vyas. A related math and geometry teacher, Mr. Vyas came on the exchange program sponsored by H.E.W. & Fulbright Scholarships.

We learn . . .

Assembled for a meeting, the School Board is ready to work on the materials before them. School Board members are Dr. Herman Schaeffer, Mrs. Claude McAden, Mrs. W. K. Rutledge, secretary;

Mr. Bill Wright, President, Mr. C. G. Whitten, vice president, Mr. Morgan Jones and Mr. Larry Adamson.

Able leaders assume administrative positions

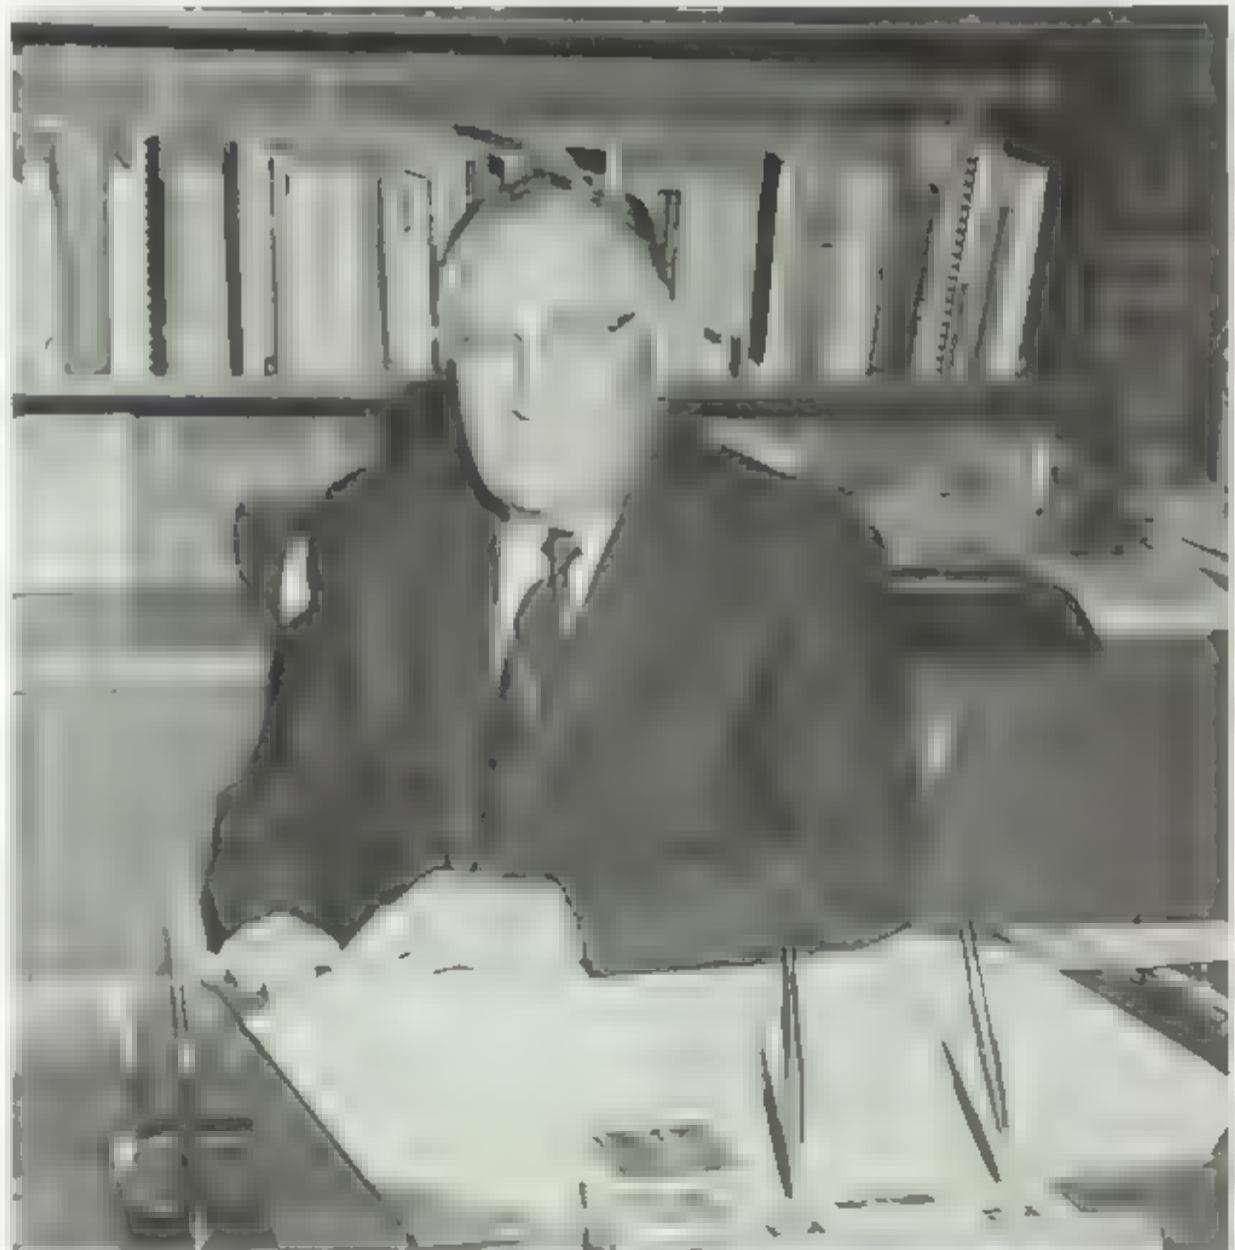

Seven community-involved citizens shouldered the responsibilities of making decisions concerning school policies, curriculum, personnel, finances and properties of the Abilene Independent School District.

Succeeding Mr. Morgan Jones, Jr., president for 14 years, Mr. Bill Wright assumed the duties of the head office in April, 1970. Much planning for this year was accomplished in the spring and summer workshops. In addition to two regular monthly meetings, the Board met in called sessions.

Mr. A. E. Wells, with other members of the administrative staff, worked closely with the Board in developing practices of management and curriculum for Abilene's 30 schools.

Superintendent of Abilene Public Schools for 20 years, Mr. Wells is active in state and national professional organizations as well as local civic groups. He received a BA degree from Abilene Christian College and a MEd degree from Colorado State University.

Superintendent Mr. A. E. Wells waits for the next of his day's appointments.

Administrative duties at Abilene High are shared by three. Mr. Escoe Webb, principal, heads the group that is concerned with providing physical and curricular needs of AHS students and carrying out policies of the public school system. Mr. James Langford as assistant principal, is in charge of student activity funds, book distribution, and discipline and attendance problems. Assisting with discipline is Mr. Elmer Wright, dean of student activities.

Besides carrying on school duties, the administrative staff is busy in professional and local organizations. Mr. Webb is active in state and national secondary principals' groups

Mr. Webb received his BS and MS degrees from North Texas State. A graduate of Howard Payne College, Mr. Langford obtained a MEd degree from Texas Tech. Mr. Wright obtained his BS degree from Paul Quinn College and MEd from Prairie View A & M

Mr. Webb attends to some of the paper work in his office while Mr. Langford checks attendance records. Returning to his office, Mr. Wright is ready to continue his day's schedule

Counselors help ready students for future

It is the work of four counselors to guide and help students to plan high school and future careers. Counselors are in charge of all testing for local uses as well as for college entrance. Two counselors, Mr. Roland Blackford and Mr. Chester McAlpin, devote most of their time to the vocational field. Besides working with vocational students, they help Mrs. Barbara McKenzie with sophomore and junior counseling.

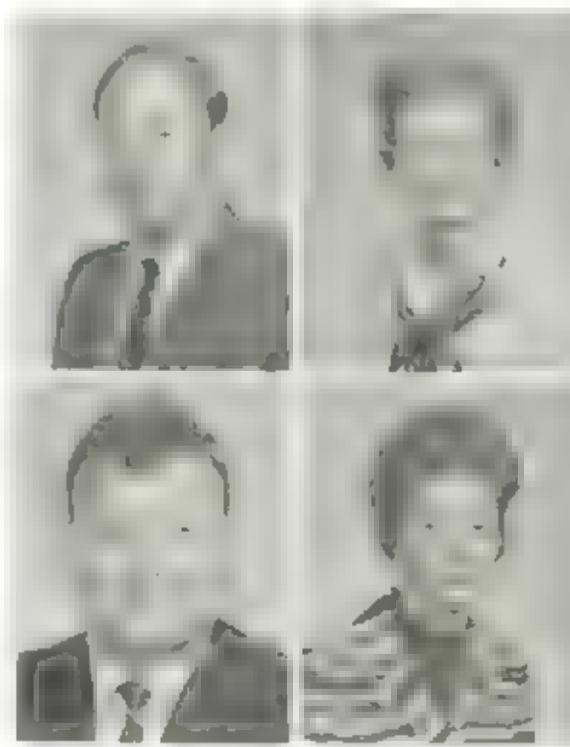

Counselor to all seniors, Mrs. Marie Denham sets up testing programs, assists seniors in making decisions about colleges or work and in applying for scholarships, and helps plan the college-night program.

New in the counseling offices are Mrs. McKenzie and Mr. McAlpin.

While enrolling students at mid-term, Mr. McAlpin checks with Mr. Blackford about a student assignment...Mrs. Denham and Chris England discuss Chris's plans for attending college next year...Before placing a new brochure on the shelf, Mrs. McKenzie examines it.

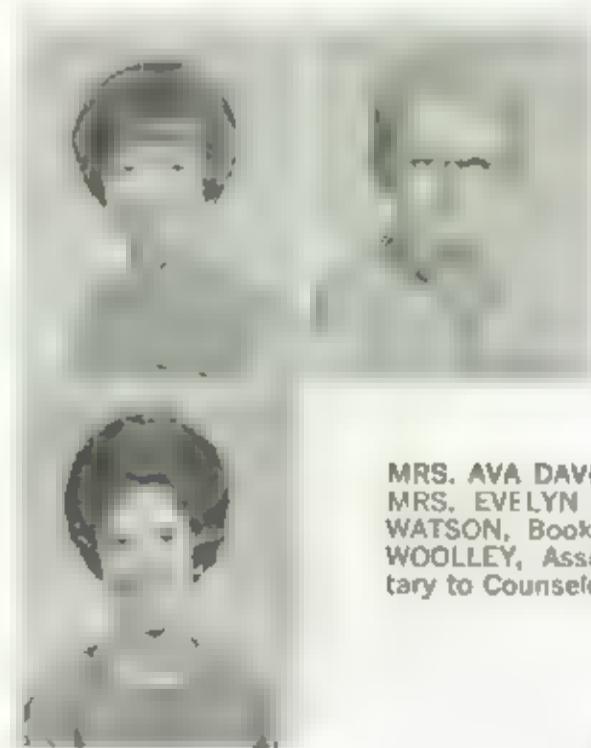

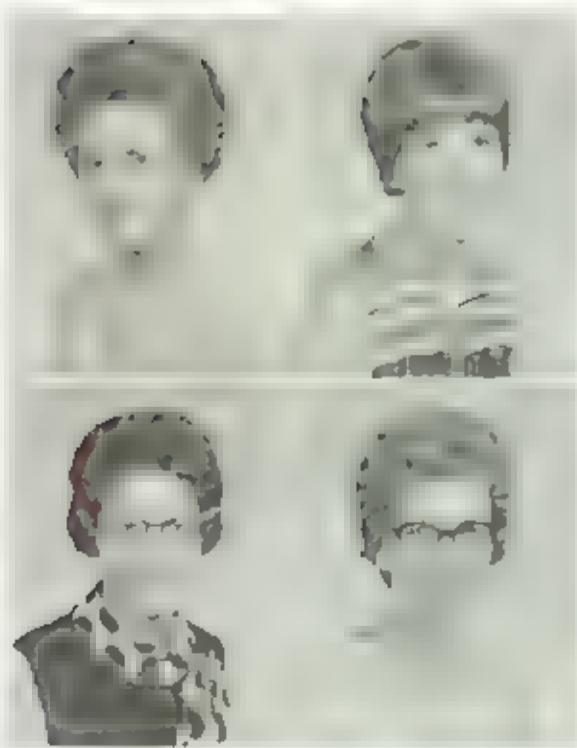

Offices, the core of all scholastic activities, provided personnel to perform duties for both faculty and students. Student assistants helped by lessening the work of the personnel in the offices of principal, registrar, attendance, counselors, attendance, audio visual and nurse.

Handling grade records and transcripts and assisting with registration were the jobs in the registrar's office, while attendance office workers supervised collection of roll sheets and issuance of excuses and permits. Records, school finances, and activity funds were additional responsibilities of office workers.

Issuing and setting up audio visual equipment and showing films filled each day's schedule while in the nurse's office health needs and records were attended.

To assist in the registrar's office, Judy Yaw waits for the materials Mrs. Davis is stapling, while Brenda Davis helps bookkeeper, Mrs. Watson.

MRS. AVA DAVIS, Registrar; MRS. FRIEDA DICKSON, AV Clerk; MRS. EVELYN RAYMOND, Attendance Clerk; MRS. BARBARA WATSON, Bookkeeper; MRS. JUNE WHITT, Nurse; MRS. ANN WOOLLEY, Assistant Registrar; MRS. PEGGY WRIGHT, Secretary to Counselors; MRS. JEAN VICK, Secretary to the Principal

Senior honors students begin seminar work

Developing writing skills and an appreciation of literature, and stressing language meanings and grammar fundamentals are some of the main objectives of the AHS English Department.

To accomplish these goals, teachers used audio visual aids, periodicals and textbooks.

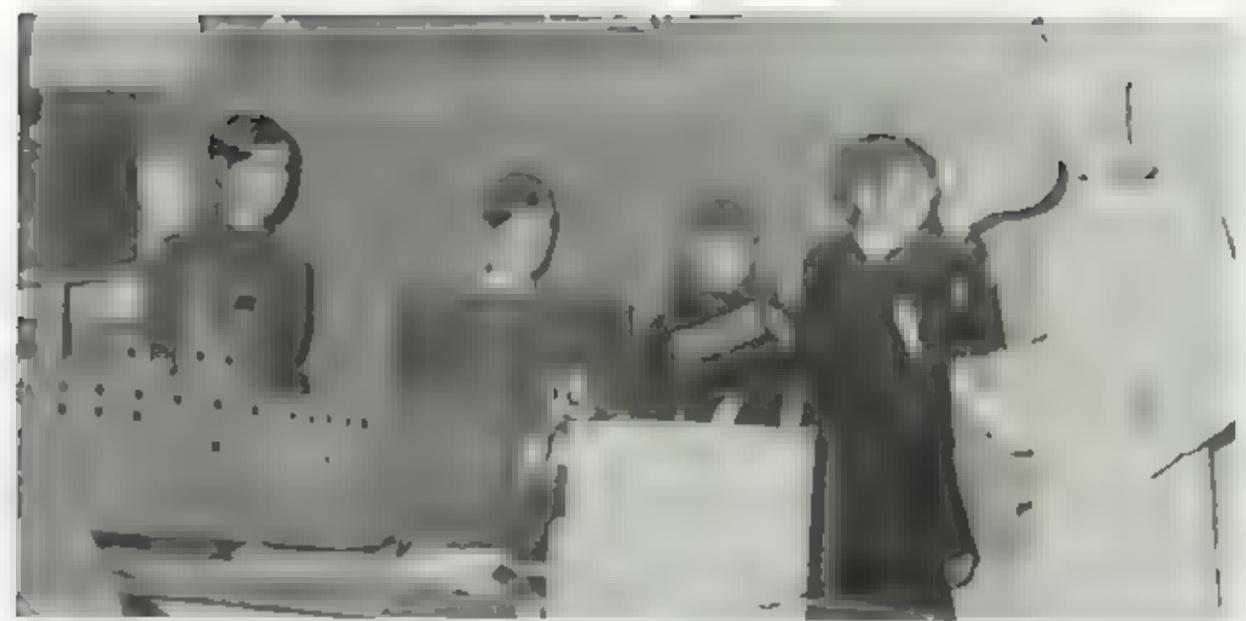

Sophomores studied literature from a new text and tackled their first research theme while juniors concentrated on the work of American authors. Seniors worked in seminars, did extensive work in grammar and composition, and wrote a research theme.

New to the department were Mrs. Martha Brooks, Mrs. Ann Stepp, Mrs. Ann Ward, and Mrs. Yaeger.

Learning to express their feelings and moods through experimental films, Linda Scott, Sam Bennett and Dons Wright work in Mrs. Brooks's English class . . . As a special project, Blake Woodall displays his fire prevention poster for Mrs. Morrow's class . . . Enacting the death scene of Julius Caesar in Mrs. Marie Yaeger's English class are Don McFadden (Brutus), James Master (Caesar) and Worth Moutray (Cassius).

Government classes attend college seminar

To help young people understand the culture in which they live is an important factor in the teaching of social studies at Abilene High.

Government classes heard court hearings and visited with the county judge. Later in class, the students set up mock courts. In these experiences students became aware of problems of government which are common over the nation. Twice in the year, a group of students who had shown an interest in government attended the "Democracy in Action" seminar at Howard-Payne College.

In American and world history classes a new program of teaching was developed. To enable students to apply what they learned to everyday life, teachers employed the teaching of concepts instead of facts.

A part of the learning process in Mr. Olsen's classes was the frequent open discussions carried on between students and teacher . . . Library periods provided a chance for Amado Calderon to receive assistance from Mr. Inzer.

Pointing out hereditary facts, psychology student Debra O'Neal explains the reason for the colors of children's eyes.

Science studies aided by updated equipment

Being acquainted with the scientific age prepares individuals for adult lives. Eight teachers were responsible for introducing over one-third of the AHS student body to the world of science.

Group and individual investigation was aided by up-dated equipment furnished to all classes. New overhead transparencies, a celestial globe and other lab devices were available for class use. Again this year the instructional facilities of the Planetarium supplemented study.

Biology, physical science and chemistry met graduation requirements, but more advanced courses of study are offered to students who chose physics, Chemistry II or Biology II.

Multi-purpose calculator is newest addition

Approximately 800 students were attracted to the Business Department this year. Popularity of the business courses is attributed to the opportunity to gain knowledge and attain skill in the use of business machines.

The newest machine, the Hermes calculator, is an automatic, 10-key machine, capable of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Located in the bookkeeping and office practice room, it is available to anyone's use.

Typing I and II, bookkeeping, shorthand and clerical practice enabled many students to go from classroom to job. Other subjects included business law and business math for juniors and seniors and general business for sophomores. The knowledge gained from these courses will be helpful in many phases of life.

Stage band entertains for chili day activities

Activities in the Fine Arts Department interested many AHS students. Its curriculum includes art, drama, speech, choir, band and orchestra.

Approximately 300 students participated in music classes. Many joined one of the choirs while others, along with some of the choir members, enrolled in one of the bands or the orchestra. Class time provided practice time for concerts, contests, and assemblies.

Sculpture, ceramics, paintings, collages in various stages of production filled the art room all year. Some of the finished work was displayed about the school and city.

Drama and speech students kept busy in rehearsing their plays, studying fundamentals of speech, or debating. Drama students were involved in two major productions, a contest play, and a number of one-act plays.

Good representation for AHS came from the fine arts classes in various district, regional and state events.

Band members wait patiently for Santa Claus to appear at the Christmas program. Members of the Boys' Choir, Joe Moore and Ednol Corrasco receive instructions on studying syllables from Mr. Dale, director. Drummer Paul Blakemore keeps the beat as the stage band performs during the annual Chili Day.

Ag co-op education added to AHS curriculum

Two new courses, radio and television repair and vocational agricultural cooperative, were added to the vocational education department, bringing the total number of courses offered to eighteen. Mr. Henry Keith and Mr. Bill Scott are the instructors. Besides Mr. Keith, Mrs. Ouida Harkey and Mr. Paul Dennis are new to the department.

Five courses are now offered to students who attend classes in the mornings and work in the afternoons.

Vocational classes enable a student to go from shop or classroom into a job in the field. The vocational program provides opportunities for both boys and girls to learn about business and to develop skills in the operation of certain machines and tools. Training areas include office skills, sales work and trades.

AHS student attends mathematics academy

To bring some variety to the confusing world of facts and figures, teachers used overhead projectors, film strips, projects, and field trips to supplement usual procedures used in math classes. Useful devices to students in their problem-solving sessions were cones, slide-rules, protractors, and straight edges.

Students received instructions from eleven teachers in the areas of algebra, trigonometry, geometry, analytical geometry, elementary analysis, calculus and related math.

New members in the department are Mrs. Carol Beeman, Mrs. Margaret Sawyer, Mrs. Beverly Hill and Mr. Johnny Smith.

Holiday cheer is spread through the mathematical formula posted by Nancy Huddleston and Mrs. Bryant . . . Class time for Lynette Hill is occupied with correcting geometry papers

Study in four languages offered at AHS

By acting out vocabulary words, discussing national literature, and singing native songs, students learned not only the languages but the customs and histories of foreign countries. Students used the language lab to check their own vocal accuracy against that of a native speaker.

Word building, sentence structure and stories received full time attention of all Latin students. French, German, and Spanish classes drilled on pronunciation, dialogues, and conversation. Guest speakers provided first-hand information about their native lands.

Homemakers hostesses for faculty's holiday party

To instruct students in better homemaking practices, five teachers planned instruction in sewing, cooking, caring for children in play-school, and managing home budgets.

Home experience projects enabled the girls to apply their classwork and practical experience. Home visits were made to establish teacher-parent support and to evaluate home accomplishments.

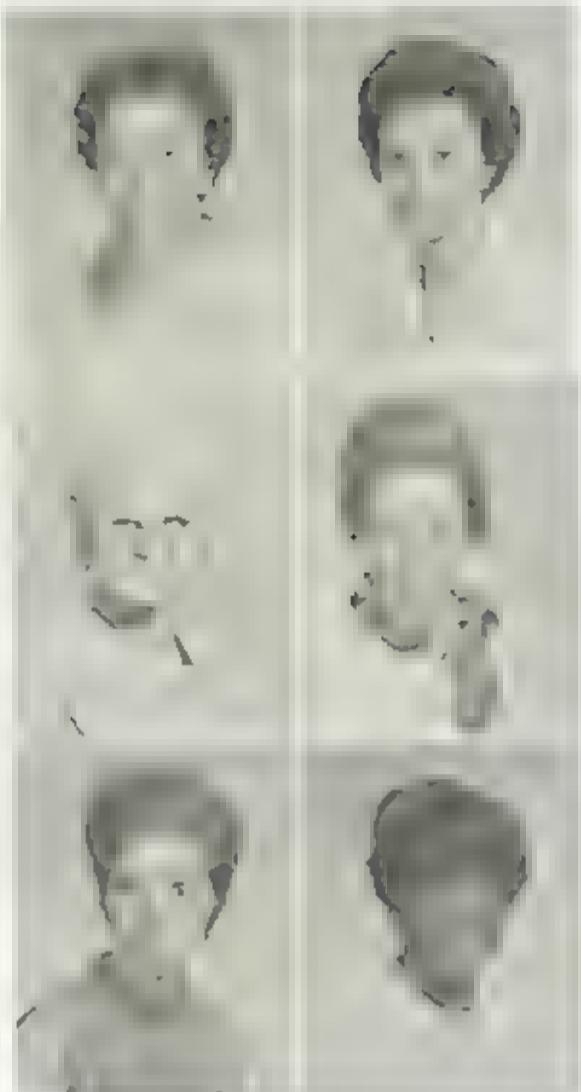

According to Mrs. Geye, the purpose of the personal management course is to help one become a better consumer and to learn to manage finances. Preparing young people for the role of adulthood and discussing the problems of parent-teenager relationships served as purposes for Home and Family Living. A variety of demonstrations supplemented class work.

The reading area of the library was made more comfortable and attractive with the addition of carpeting, the 1970 senior gift. A conference room serves as a listening post for those who wished to use records, study or have a conference.

PE students utilize new exercise equipment

Physical education classes this year encouraged health through the use of newly added equipment to the weight room for the girls, and the new gymnastic equipment for the boys. The girls now have two tread mills, tone-up wheels and scooterboards. The girls also used the boys' new equipment.

There were approximately 500 students participating in the regular PE activities. Some students concentrated on one sport such as tennis, volleyball or swimming. Teams representing AHS were developed from membership of these classes.

In health, four teachers instructed nearly 350 students. Mr. Jerry Taylor, Mr. E. H. Park and Mr. Jack Aldredge taught the boys; Mrs. Lucy Weaver, the girls. One-half credit is required of all students for graduation.

New equipment, parallel bars in the boys' gym, play an important role in the boys' working for coordination in the physical fitness program.

Cheerleaders and Eagle Squad boost spirit

Five senior girls found the office of cheerleader to be very time-consuming. Beginning with work outs and sign-making in the summer, they were ready for the first pep rally in September. During the year they planned and conducted pep rallies, made and distributed locker boosters to athletes and attended athletic events. In the spring they conducted cheerleader try-outs for 1972. Joining the cheerleaders in practice and athletic events was Ruth Ann Caldwell, mascot. Linda Beaty was head cheerleader; Miss Beverly Ball, sponsor.

Squad takes responsibility for Eagle mascot

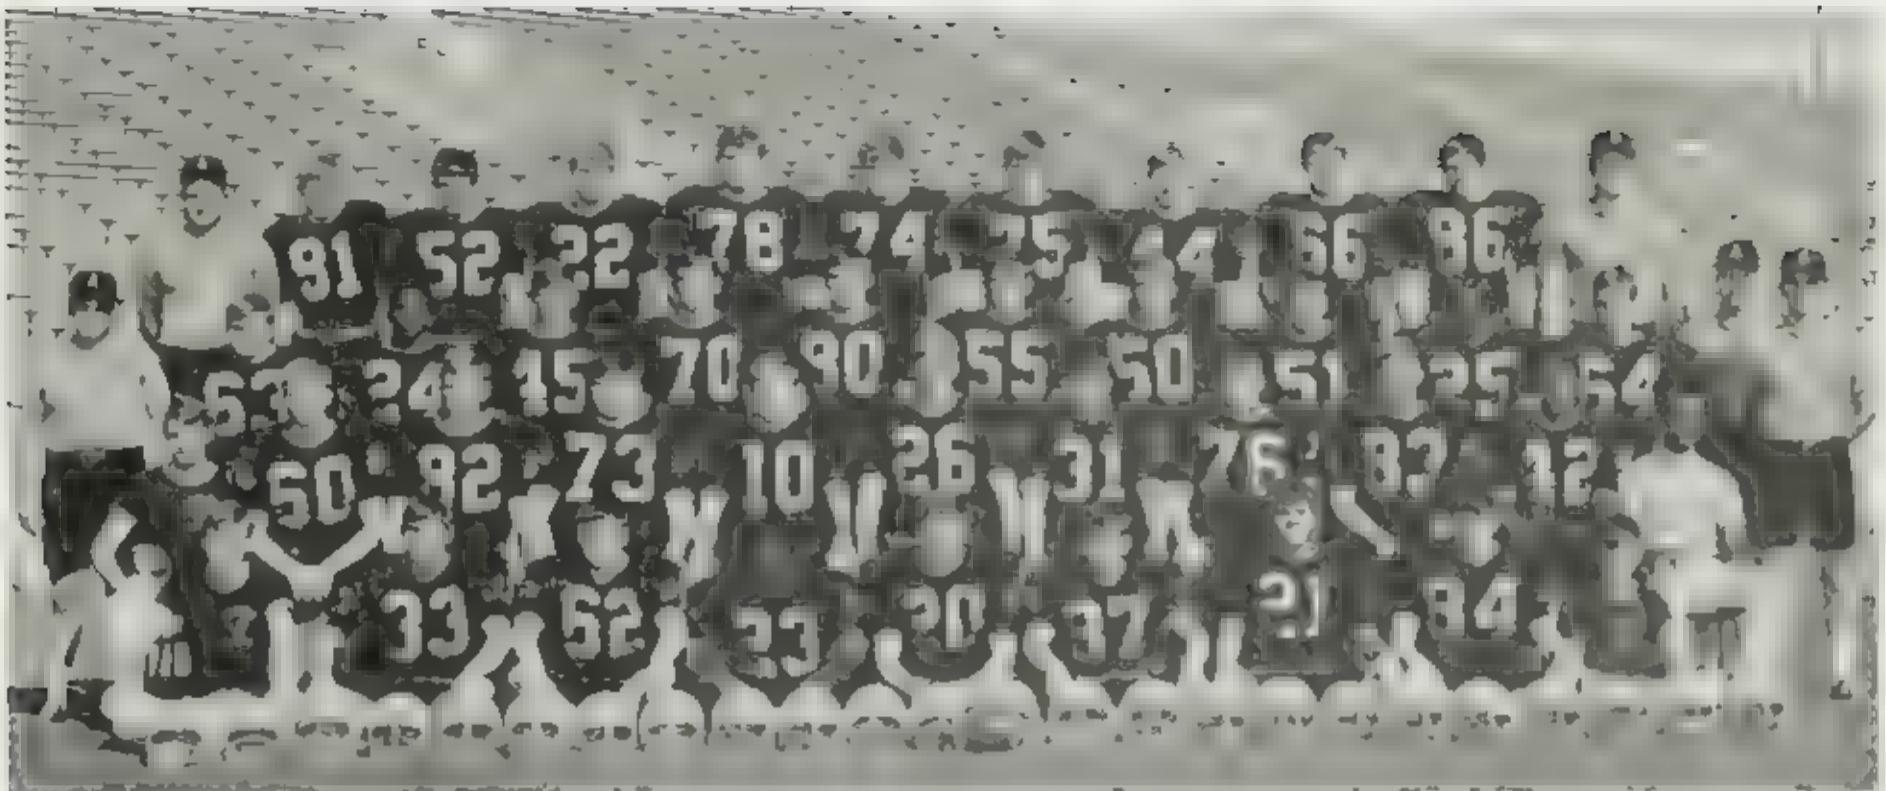

Our mascot, Champ, was the responsibility of five senior boys known as the Eagle Squad. These boys, chosen on a basis of responsibility, school spirit and willingness to serve Abilene High, were in charge of transporting Champ to pep rallies and in-town athletic events. They attended out-of-town events as a group to boost spirit without the eagle. Mr. Max Irwin sponsored the Squad.

Each year, "A" Association chooses a girl whom they feel has contributed the most in boosting enthusiasm and spirit for the athletics program. Roseann Henninger, a member of the tennis team, a member of the "Bottom Four," and runner-up for Homecoming Queen, was selected for the 1970-71 honor of "Spirit of Athletics" because of her active participation and support of the Eagle athletes.

Varsity Warbirds began their 1970 football season with a virtually new staff. Coach Thormalen, although not a newcomer, began his first season as head coach. New to the Eagle staff were coaches Jim Steadman, working as end coach; Fred Walker, working with backfield; Ernie Park, coaching the tackles; and Jack Aldridge, assisting with the JV team. The new staff worked with a squad consisting of nineteen returning lettermen to enhance their chances for a winning to enforce their 1970 slogan: 1970 THE YEAR OF THE EAGLES.

Eagles win one, lose two predistrict games

AHS Eagles began their 1970 season with a victory of 23-12 over Trinity. After an exchange of punts, the Eagles went for a 93-yard drive for their first touchdown. At the end of the second quarter, the Eagles mustered a field goal and went into half-time with a 10-0 lead. A recovered fumble led to another Eagle touchdown. A fake field goal attempt failed, and Abilene led 16-6. After the Trinity kickoff, James Jones ran 19 yards for the final Eagle touchdown.

At the start of the 2nd half against the Brownwood Lions, the Eagles were faced with a 22-0 deficit. Jim Reese and Greg Stirman led the Eagles to within 2 points of tying the Lions in the second half, but a fumble inside the Lion's 10 yard line ended the Eagle's chances for victory. The final score was a hair-splitter, 22-20, Brownwood.

After a sluggish first half against Cleburne, the Eagles saved face in the 4th quarter. Down 21-8, the Eagles warmed up with the help of a completion to Jeff Keeper, and a 1-yard TD plunge by Dan Cobb. A 2-point conversion was good, and Abilene trailed 21-16. James Jones, after a fumble recovery on the Eagle 30, rambled for 21 yards and a first down at the 40. The drive was killed by 3 incompletions and a 7 yard loss on a pass play.

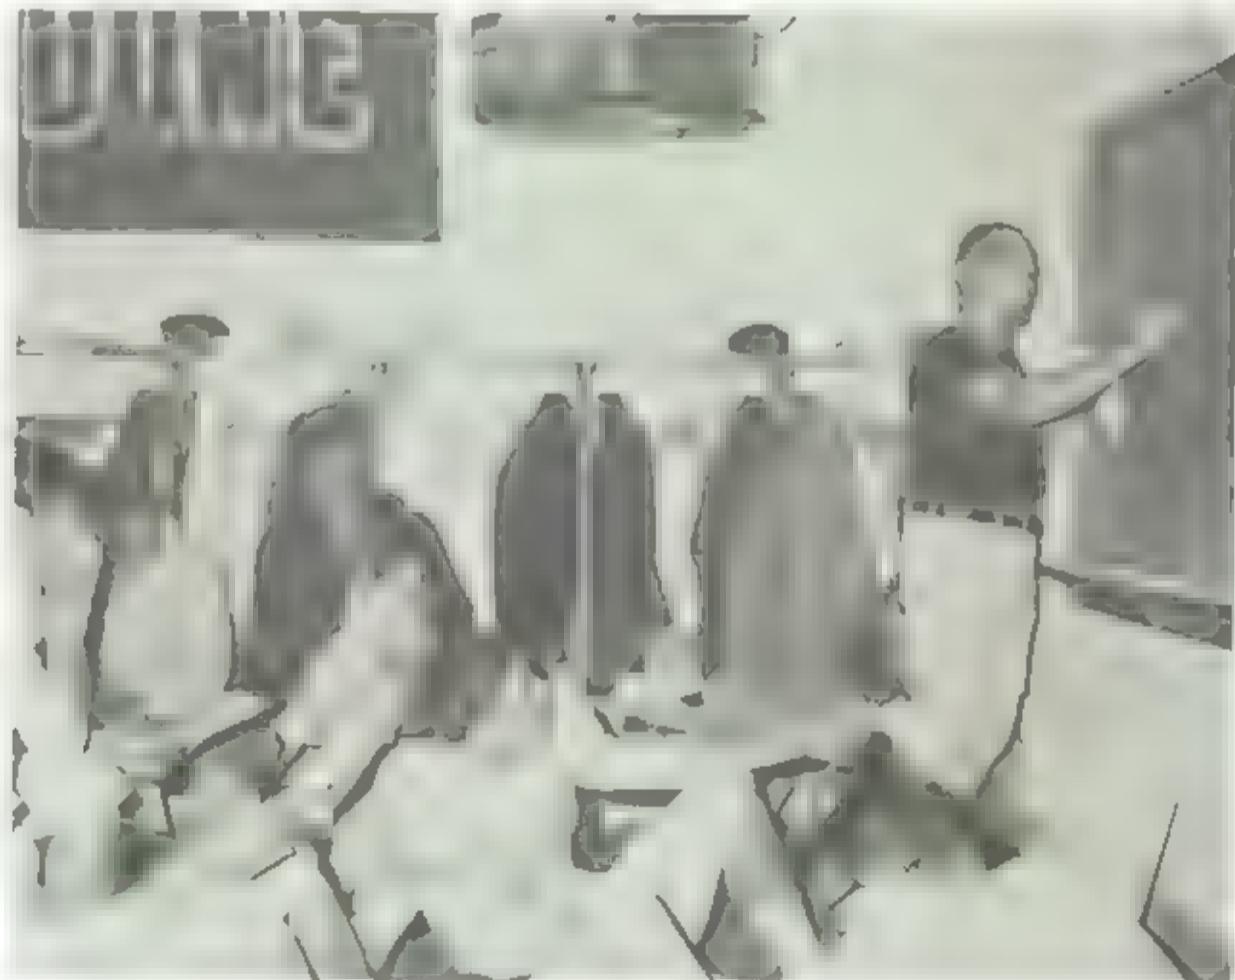

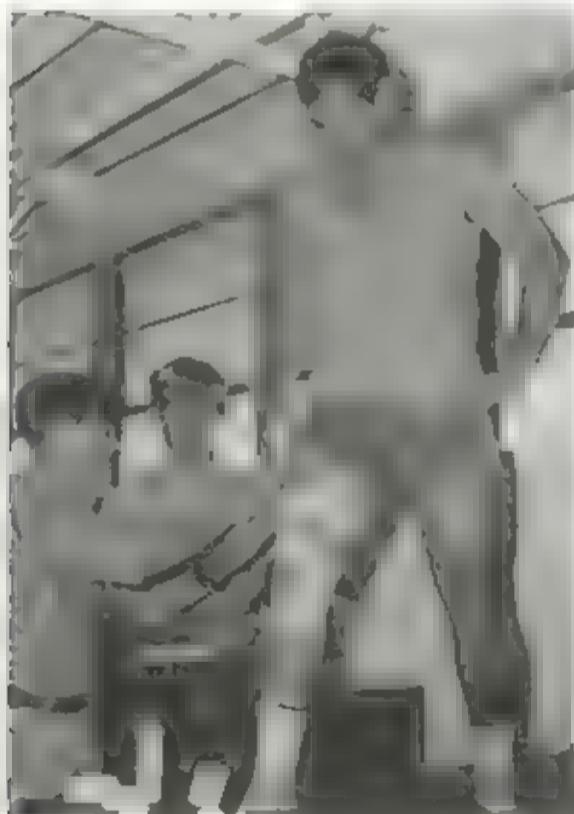

Dan Cobb is escorted by John Paige for some good yardage against the Trojans . . . Ricky McCoy finds the going tough as he grinds out some yardage in the game with Brownwood . . . Manager Terry Childers repairs a headgear before the Eagles start practice

Big Spring blitzed, but Permian prevailed

Breaking a three-year losing streak to Big Spring, the Eagles opened district competition against the Steers with a 14-7 victory. The Eagles' stout defense played an important part in their victory by preventing the Steers to score in two crucial goal-line stands. Both the Eagle touchdowns came on runs of 10 and 30 yards by Mike Brooks.

The Eagles suffered their first district loss when they met Permian. The Panthers took a 34-15 decision with some hard hits in their victory. End Jeff Keeper gave everyone a scare when he was knocked unconscious. Attended by two doctors, he was revived and taken from the field. Fired up Eagles began moving the ball and scored their first TD on their second ball possession. In the third quarter, Permian took advantage of an Eagle fumble to make the score 28-7. After two series of downs, the Eagles put together their final score drive. Permian scored again on long run and a one-yard drive for the final TD.

Eagles rank 3-1 after Odessa and Midland

Homecoming saw Abilene High control the ballgame and beat Odessa, 27-12. The fireworks started when Don Brown took the opening kickoff down to the Bronco 7 before being tackled. Cobb scored on the next play. After a recovered fumble, the Eagles scored 8 plays later, and led 13-0. At the half, the Eagles were ahead 19-6. Abilene scored 8 points in the 3rd quarter and held the Broncos to one TD that half. Final score was 27-12, Abilene.

A do-or-die pass by Jim Reese to Don Brown in the final seconds pulled out a victory over the Midland Bulldogs. In spite of the weather conditions and penalty flags, the Eagles put together a fine effort in their win over Midland, and sloshed off the field with a 25-20 victory, and a 2nd district win.

Don Brown attempts to kick an extra point after having scored against Odessa during Homecoming. James Jones eludes the grasps of a lone Bronco defender in a game played at Shotwell Stadium.

Eagle quarterback Jim Reese fails to elude opposing defense in his attempt to gain yardage on Cougars.

Larry Smith escorts Dan Cobb downfield in the Eagle's attempt to beat their cross town rivals.

Eagles claw Lee; lose to Angelo and Cougs

Against Midland Lee, the Eagles put it all together to beat the Rebels 26-6. The Eagles went into half-time with a 14-0 lead, and finished their scoring in the third quarter with two more TD's. The Eagles put down a late drive by the Rebels to secure the victory.

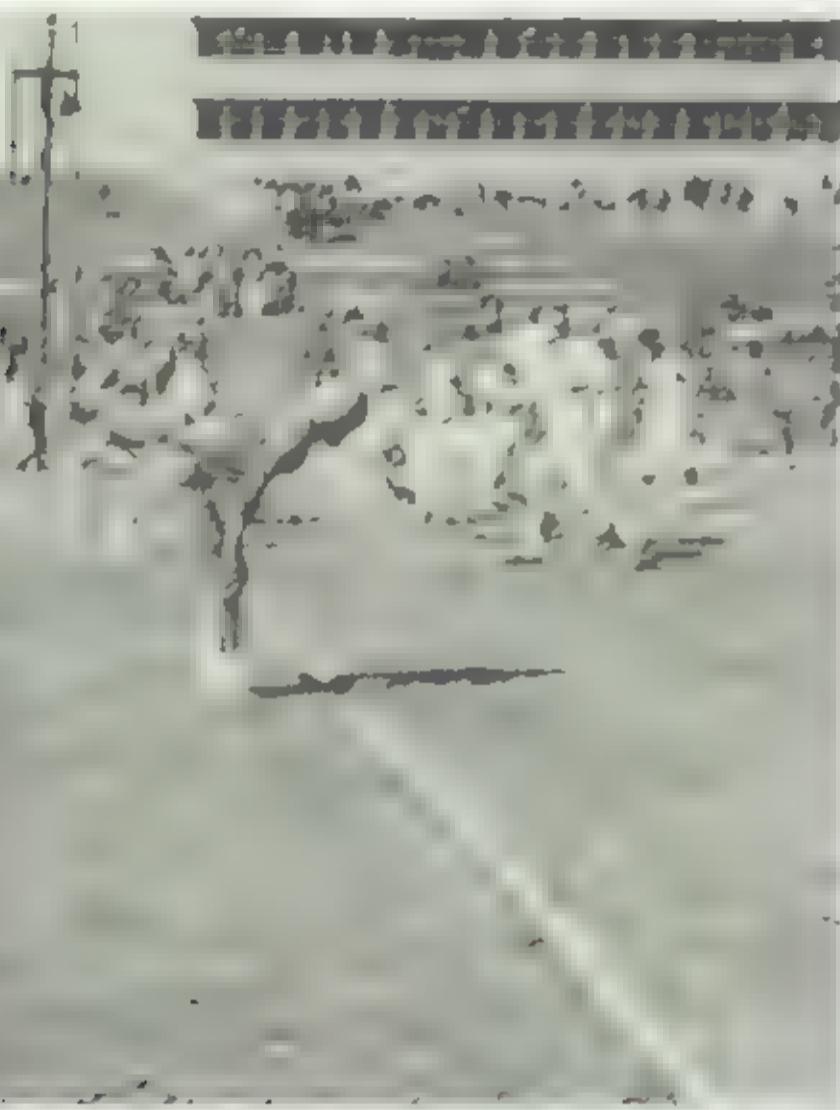

With the loss to San Angelo, the Eagle's chances for district faded away. End Don Brown was lost for the season with an injured collar bone. Jim Reese made up for the loss by having an excellent night at passing. Penetrating the Bobcat defense with his passing, Reese mustered 19 points in their 38-19 loss to San Angelo.

The Eagles gave it all they had against Cooper, but lost 14-12. The second half belonged to the Eagles, who nearly beat the cross town rivals with a fumble recovery late in the fourth period. With the end of the ball game, the Eagles ended a fine football season, finishing fourth in District 5-AAAA.

During the Cooper clash, Eagles attempt to punch the pigskin across into the promised land.

Winning records go to J.V. and "B" teams

Both the JV and "B" Teams were started under new mentors this year as the 1970 football season opened. The JV's, who had been coached in the person of "Blackie" Blackburn for many years, was lead by coach Jim Steadman. An able coach Steadman, backed up by an equal coach Aldarige, led his squad to an 8-2 record and climaxed his initial season by guiding the Eaglets to a victory over the Cooper Cougars.

Replacing Coach Jenkins, who became basketball coach, was B. L. Blackburn. He, too, had a successful season with his boys, coaching the "B" Team to a perfect 8-0 record. Sweetening their record were three wins over the Cougars, which made a good season in itself. All squads exhibited that true Eagle spirit during the fierce competition that goes along with the sport called football.

Cagers capture predistrict record of 12-6

Defending district 5-AAAA champs, the Eagle basketball players started their season with a squad composed of five seniors and seven juniors. Rodney Jenkins filled the vacancy as head coach after the resignation of Harold Wilder, who left to coach Howard County Junior College. Coach Jenkins' assistant this year was Jack Aldridge, who also coached the JV's.

The Eagles were 12-6 in predistrict and made their presence felt in the three tourneys they participated in by taking second in the Key City Tournament and winning consolation in the Waco and Howard Payne Tournaments. Receiving all tournament honors at the Key City Tournament were Wayne Williams and Stan Lambert. Stan was named All-Tournament at Waco also. Although handicapped by possessing only one returning letterman, the Eagle's coach began season with high expectations and some good talent to develop into top-notch players in the future years.

Cager Stan Lambert hustles for a rebound in a predistrict play at Eagle gym. The Eagle's worked hard to prepare for district play and an energetic squad was anxious to show their stuff . . . Typical Eagle enthusiasm is exhibited by head Eagle Coach Rodney Jenkins

Cagers sluggish to obtain first district win

Eagles opened district play in basketball against Big Spring. Though the Eagles put up a valiant fight, it was the first district loss for the Eagles in two years, losing 118-112.

Hosting the Panthers, the Eagles failed to make the win column, as they lost to Permian 83-75. Unable to contain the Panthers with the press, the Eagles went to the wire once again before time had run out on them.

In their third district encounter, the Eagles gave the Bulldogs a scare in the 60-59 loss. The Eagles became 0-3 in District play with the loss that occurred at the last second.

Breaking into the win column for the first time, the Eagles emerged victorious against the Odessa Broncos. The Eagles put the game away at 79-62 with 3.25 left.

Eager-handed Eagles, Dale Huff and Andrew Harris battle for ball possession after a missed shot . . . Paul Palmer dribbles the ball down court against Steers while being escorted by Andrew Harris. ## Bobcats, Cougs were victimized by Eagles

San Angelo became the Eagle's second victory, as the Warbirds emerged victorious against the Bobcats. Overcoming a 46-43 deficit, the Eagles came from behind in the fourth quarter to salvage the win with a score of 72-66.

Key breaks and a bad night at the free-throw line proved to be the costly factors in the Eagle's fourth loss in district play to the Rebels. The final score was Abilene High behind by seven—77-70.

A late rally helped the Eagles to finish the first half of district play with a victory, as the Warbird Cagers beat the cross-town rivals 69-63. Coach Jenkins credited the players on his bench who were able to come in and play well under pressure with having a lot to do concerning the victory. A late rally in the fourth quarter helped to suppress the South's uprising.

Going in for a lay-up shot, Paul Palmer charges for position against the Cougars.

Statistician, Mike Mulkey, keeps track of the players' achievements during the season's competition.

Trying for two points, Ricky Barnett shoots for the basket, while Ricky Hale awaits the outcome in a game against Cooper.

Providing school spirit between quarters, cheerleaders Teri Alexander, mascot Ruth Ann Caldwell, and Leslie Price pep up the basketball squad and fans at Eagle gym

Eagles avenged their first half defeat to Big Spring by defeating the Steers 107-91. The Warbirds closed out the third quarter ahead, 70-72, and the fourth period saw the Eagle Cagers open up with an array of offensive and defensive play. Paul Palmer helped the cause by scoring 30 points. The Eagles were off on a good start.

The following games against Permian, Midland, and Odessa saw the Eagles lose their chances to defend their district championship. The Permian Panthers proved to be too much and defeated the Cagers 75-65; as did the Odessa Broncos who defeated the Eagles 67-64. The Eagles led the Bulldogs for the entire game, up until the final two minutes. The Bulldogs put on a rally in the closing minutes, and managed to out-score the Eagles 75-69.

AHS Eagles lost another close ball game to the San Angelo Bobcats, and by doing so, eliminated themselves from the district race. A technical foul on San Angelo sent Stan Lambert to the free throw line with 24 seconds left. Narrowing the margin to 80-79, the Eagles tried one last shot and went down in defeat with a score of 80-79.

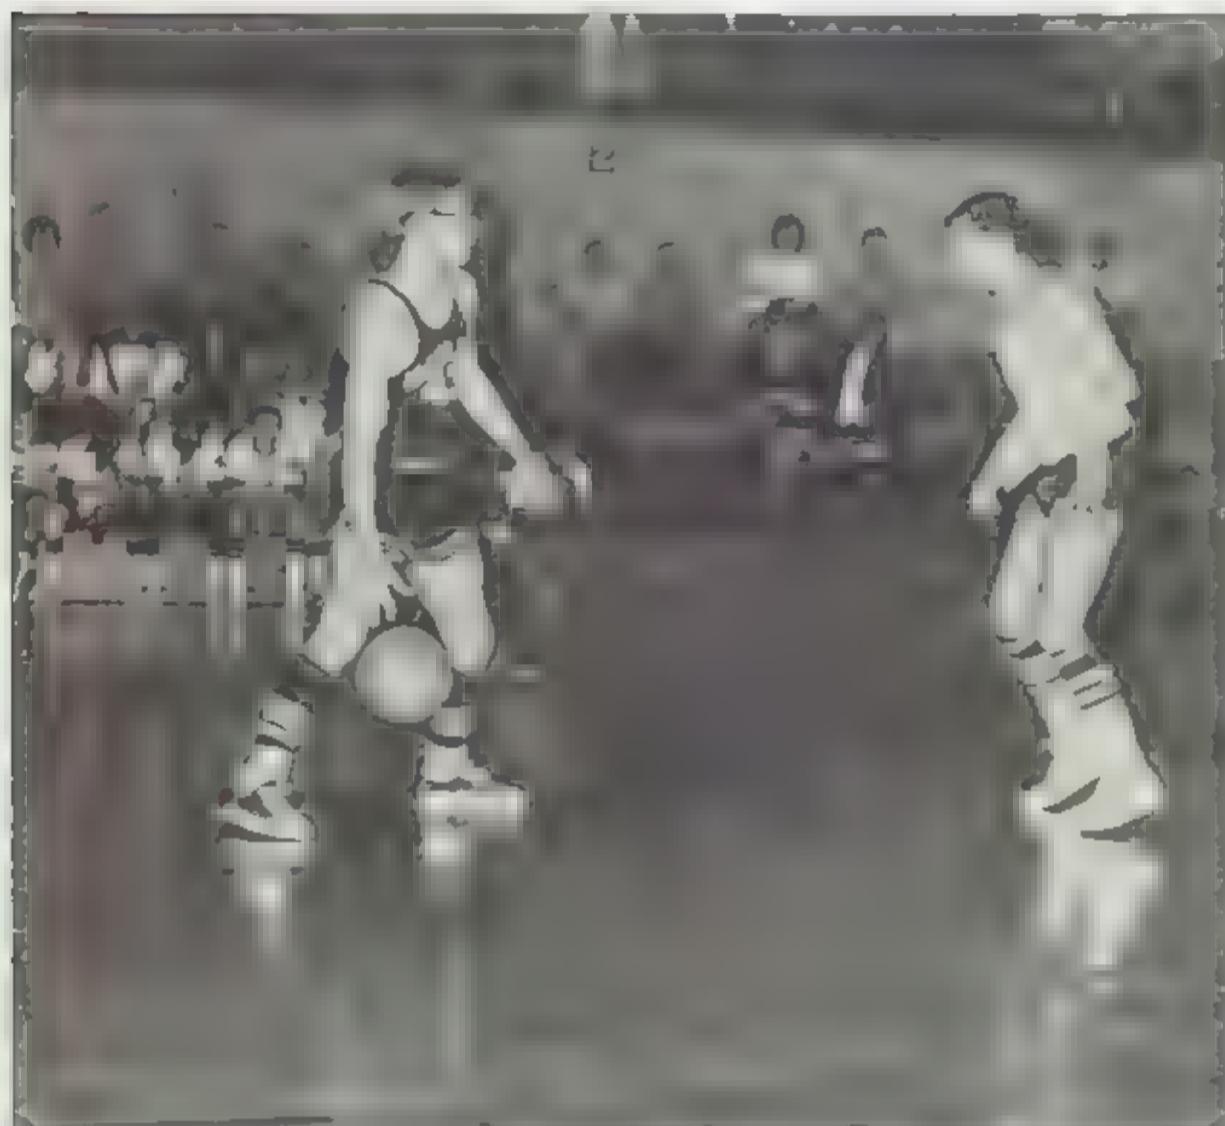

Bounding back in their next game, the Eagles defeated the Rebels 99-77. The Eagles made the win through the combined efforts of Paul Palmer, Stan Lambert, Wayne Williams, and Rusty Forrester. The win broke a three game losing streak.

The season's final game came against the cross-town rival Cougars. Cooper led at the end of the first quarter, but all was even at half time and at the end of the third quarter. Trailing 58-54, the Eagles caught a rebound and hit the rim. Abilene High then trailed 58-56 and with three seconds left, the Cougars stole the ball and with it, the game.

Going in for an easy basket is Dale Huff being closely followed by Billy Gray. The action took place at Taylor County Coliseum.

Preparing for tournaments and district play, the volleyball girls practiced during sixth period and after school. The San Marcos tournament, in which the team lost for third place and Tonya Owens won all-tournament player, was on schedule along with Arlington, and the Key City tournament. District games were played against Big Spring, Cooper, Midland, and Midland Lee. In district competition each team was played twice.

Seniors Bonnie Epkins, Debra Nelson, Tonya Owens, and Bonnie Scoggins were returning lettermen. Assisting Miss Bailey in her 19th coaching year were managers Jan Beene and Karen Wood.

Golf teams consist of five members each

Divided into two teams of five members each, the golf team participated in district meets against Midland, and Odessa teams, Cooper, and Big Spring. Members of these teams were chosen by their qualification scores in the preceding meet. Losing their first practice meet in Snyder, the golfers participated in the Abilene Invitational, Border Olympic, Sweetwater Invitational, and other meets before competing in district play.

With six returning lettermen, the team worked to advance from sixth place to a higher rank in district. Returning lettermen were Mike Ellis, Shane Fox, Jeff Giles, David McNeely, Charles Michel, and Art Humphries.

Eagle sackers were ready for season play

Optimism best described coach Blackburn's baseball squad this year, and the Eagle ball players had high hopes of going all the way in district 5-AAAA competition. The squad was composed mainly of returning lettermen who helped to add depth to the team. Coach Blackburn's assistant this year was Mr. Jim Steadman who replaced Mr. Danny Russell.

The pitching chores were handled by Stan Lambert and Clint Thomas, with bullpen backups Dennis Shepherd and south-paw David Neal close at hand should anyone fall into trouble. Supplying the batting power were senior Randall Tatum and junior Wayne Williams who batted .338 and .318 respectively last year. With the amount of returning talent, the Eagles' optimism for this year was justified.

Scheduling this year was different in that there were no zones. The schedule started in March and went through May. Opening against Monterey, the Eagles hoped to avenge the team that defeated them in bi-district play.

Tanksters work out morning and afternoon

Beginning the '71 season with an experienced squad, the Eagle swim team worked diligently to rise above their ninth place rank of '70.

In San Angelo the tanksters got off to a poor start, losing the Pre-Christmas Invitational. Other meets included the U.T. Invitational, the Texas Tech meet, the regional and state meets.

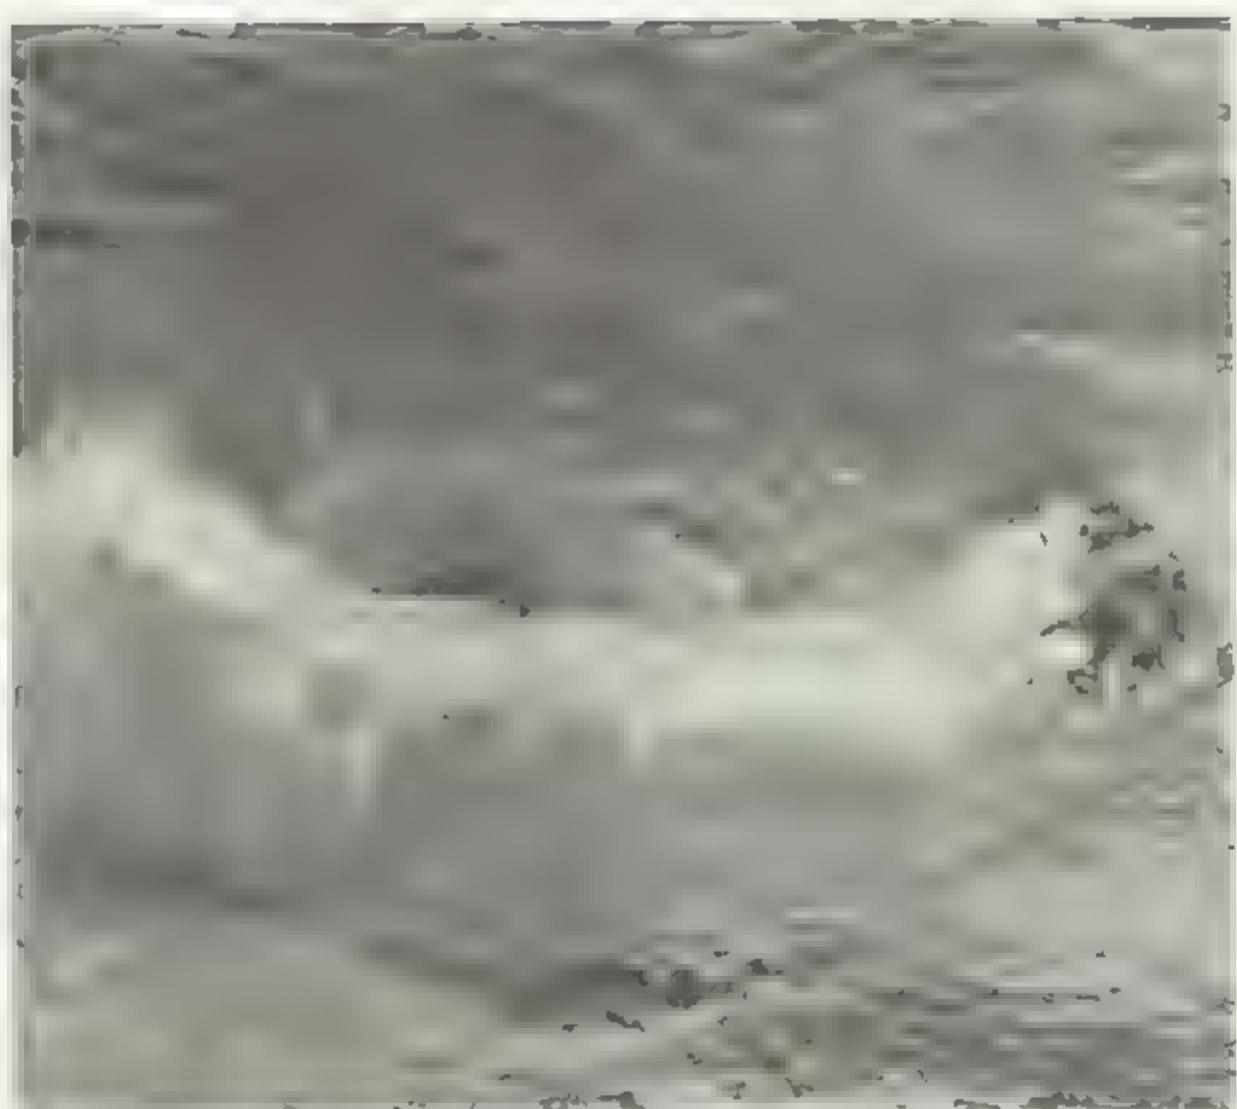

Freestyle sprinters included David Broom, Joey Cheek, Randy Huett, Tommy Roberson, Tim Sinks, John Trittin, Gary Vest, Dale Higginbotham, and Billy Taylor. Divers were Thomas Fohn and Ruben Ortiz. David Leonard and Leslie Thomas, backstrokers, along with breaststrokers, Gary Ruska and Blaine Price added strength to the team.

AHS netters miss first tournament win

Along with five returning squad members, returning lettermen Sammy Courington, Deanise Henninger, and Susan Whitman added strength and morale to the tennis team this year.

Important tournaments included meets at Big Spring, San Antonio and Abilene's Invitational. The team also traveled to Odessa, San Antonio and Austin for matches.

Accompanied by tennis coach Mr. R. J. Crawford, David King participated in the Port Washington Classic Meet held in Long Island, New York. David advanced to quarter finals.

Unable to capture first or second ratings in the Midland tournaments, the '69-'70 tennis team did not place in district play.

Track season brings enthusiasm to Eagles

Track outlook this year was exceptionally high for the Eagle participants. All of the members of last year's squad were back, and with the opening of the season, Coach Fred Walker had high hopes of his team improving last year's record. Trying to improve on their school records were hurdlers Don Brown, and Terry Jones, shot putter Victor Callison, and members of the sprint relay team—Keith Turner, Dan Cobb, Mike Brooks, and Don Brown. Coach Walker expected improvements from quartemiler Jeff Keeper, half-miler B. J. Lott, sprinter Mike Brooks, and hurdler John Paige.

At the Astrodome Federation indoor track meet, Don Brown placed second in the 120 yard high hurdles, and Mike Harwell finished twelfth in the mile relay. At last year's regional meet, AHS placed second in the standings. At the state meet, the Eagles sprint relay team placed seventh with a time of 41.8.

Hurdlers Don Brown and Terry Jones help add points to their team's total at a '70 meet.

Secondary coaches battle Harlem Jokers

Wearing the "A" is the symbol of accomplishment among AHS athletes. The "A" Association is composed of cheerleaders and lettermen of the seven sports in which AHS students compete.

For a money raising project, the Association members sponsored a basketball game between the Harlem Jokers and the secondary school coaches in the AHS vicinity. The Association also managed the concession stand during the basketball season.

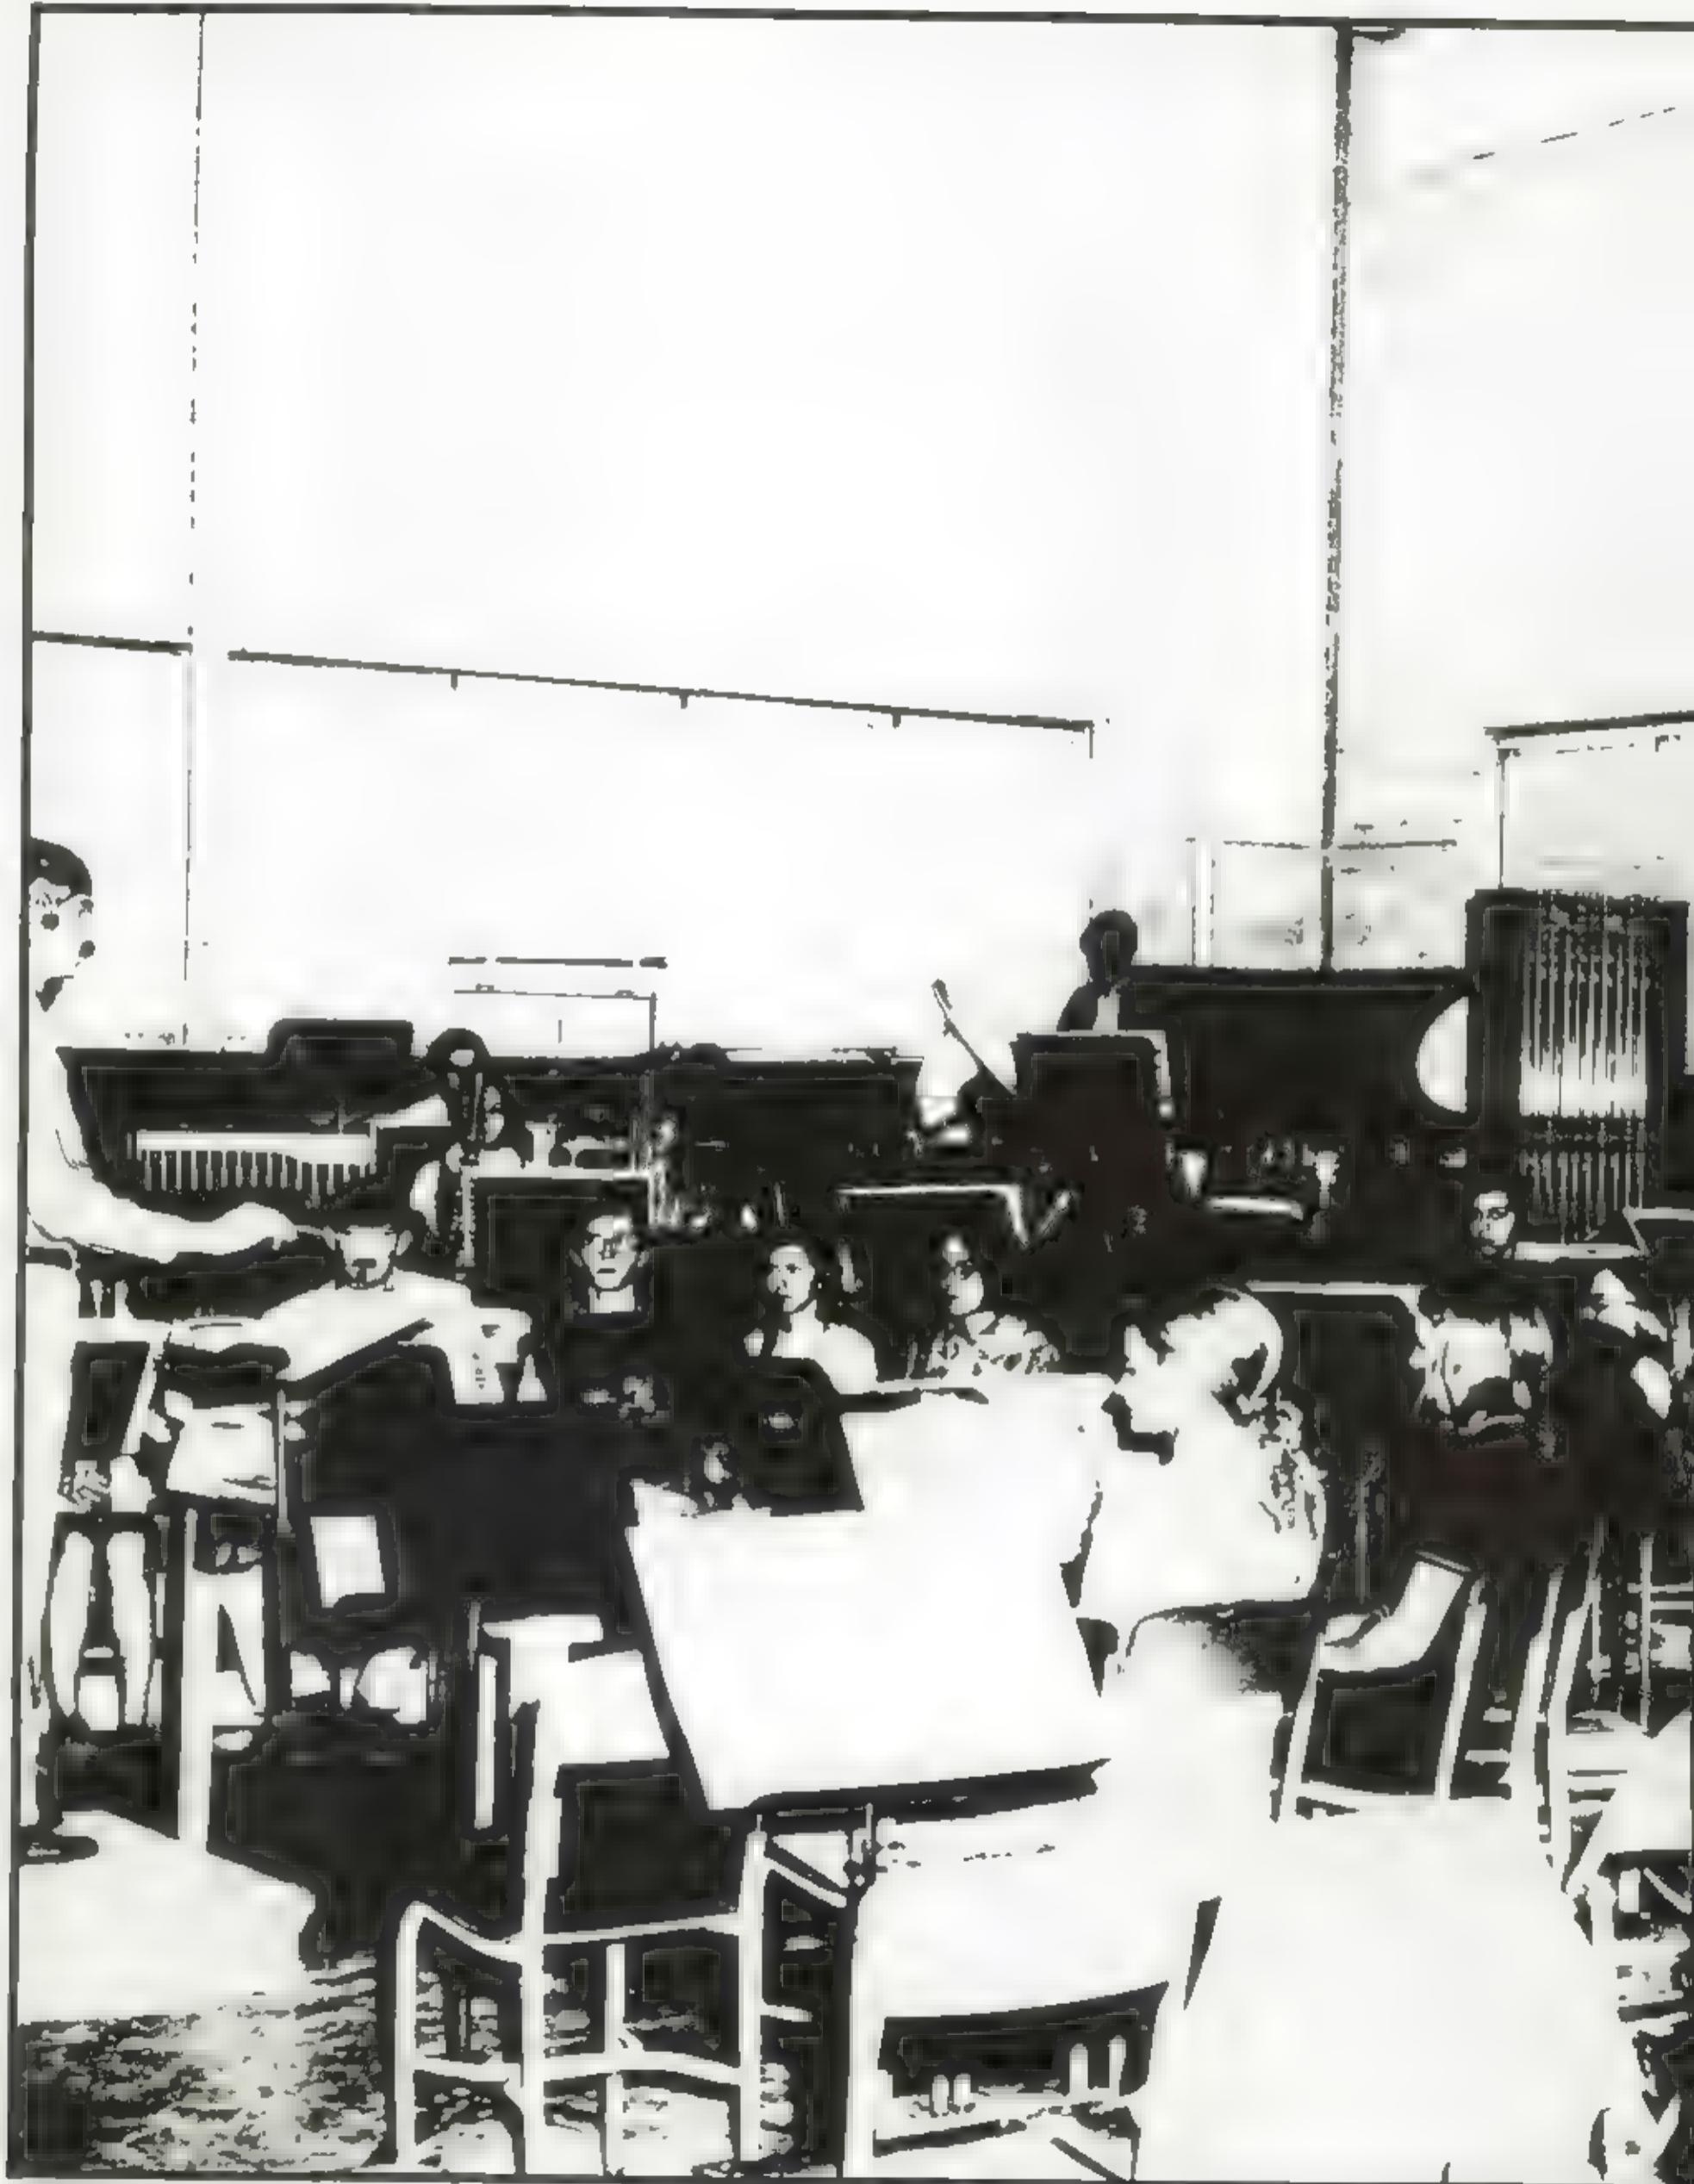

As is customary, "A" Association members chose the "Spirit of Athletics" and the "Inspiration of Athletics," a girl and a teacher who supplied encouragement and support to athletic events.

In charge of activities of the "A" Association were officers Leslie Price, secretary; Clifton DuBose, treasurer; Jeff Kepper, vice-president and John Paige, president.

Student Council divides into House, Senate

Foremost in the changes made by the Student Council this year was the division into two groups—the Senate and House of Representatives. Homeroom representatives, class officers, and the executive board served as the Senate while cheerleaders, class officers, not in the Senate, and petitioners served in the House.

The Abilene Chamber of Commerce organized Operation Main Stream. The Chamber's aim was to get more students involved by having them serve on the Board as members. To promote better relationship between ethnic groups, the Council sponsored a Human Relations Committee.

This year, the AHS Council served as president of Oil Belt District II. Council delegates attended the annual Convention in Austin.

Character, scholarship, leadership and service were qualifications considered for membership in the National Honor Society, sponsored by Miss Jozell Brister.

Balloon sales, VPO, a reception for Homecoming exes and Open House were a few of the activities carried out by members. Minor changes were made in the Valentine Post Office, with a theme of "Spring Fever." Prices for sealed sentiments were raised to fifteen cents; singing telegrams costs rose to twenty-five cents. Money earned was used in the scholarships issued in the spring.

Two inductions were staged, with requirements for membership set at faculty acceptance and a 5.8 grade point average. "Apathy is Dead For Those Who Care" was the theme of the multi-media program when 35 juniors were inducted. A post induction party was given for both old and new members on January 30.

Red Cross active in many outside activities

Carrying on the tradition of helping others in many of the activities and programs they sponsor is the Red Cross organization of Abilene High.

Members of the Red Cross take an active part in various outside activities. The Red Cross also participated in the National Youth drive to raise funds for the Red Cross youth work. These funds are kept in Taylor County and are used to support different services performed by Red Cross volunteers.

Mrs. Joyce Jay, Latin teacher, is the Red Cross sponsor who aided the organization in its activities.

Less pressure stimulates literary freedom

Learning, sharing and appreciating each person's literary efforts were the goals set by the creative writing club this year.

Basic techniques of writing were presented in discussions or films. Club meetings consisted of examining the works of contemporary authors, writing immediate reactions to films, and various other activities.

The creative Writing Club also sponsored the Aquila, a high-school literary publication. The publication was edited by Nina Dunn, senior; photographers were Diane Gulbenkian and Jane Boggs.

By joining the Creative Writing Club, students had the opportunity of experimenting with different types and styles of writing without the pressures of a regular classroom.

Battery keeps AHS informed about activities

Publishing approximately 16 bi-weekly issues of the Battery, staff members and sponsors kept students, faculty and patrons informed about school activities and athletic events, recognized outstanding students and expressed editorial opinion. Mrs. Marie Yaeger served as editorial adviser.

Edited by Alice Agnew and Cindi Herndon, the Battery earned an All-Texas rating at the Texas High School Press Association. Last year's journalism students placed fourth in the nation for their multi-media safety campaign.

The Battery holds membership in THSPA, Quill and Scroll and the Interscholastic League Press Association. Members of the staff who meet requirements are recommended for International Quill and Scroll.

A business staff, advised by Mr. Max Irwin, managed finances and circulation of the Battery.

In a telephone conversation, co-editor Cindi Herndon supplies information to Reporter News columnist Cheryl Foster. Supplying sports reports to the Battery were David Payne and Richard Aquire.

Second collegiate-size yearbook edited in '71

Something new for the second collegiate-size yearbook for AHS was foremost in the staff's planning the 1971 Flashlight. Major plans were finalized in August in a visit to News foto Yearbooks, publishers of the Flashlight.

At the beginning of the school term, Burgess Heslep, editor, assigned sections and work began under the supervision of Miss Mildred Stokes, editorial adviser. Section editors were assisted by Journalism I students.

Critiques and ratings for the 1970 Flashlight were received in the fall. All-Texas was the rating received at the Denton Texas High School Press Association, and First Class ratings came from the National Scholastic Press Association and the Columbia Press Association.

This year Mr. Max Irwin was in charge of the bookkeeping chores for the Flashlight.

Packing copy is a happy chore for Burgess Heslep and Judi Griffin, editor and assistant editor of the '71 Flashlight. Book keeping, under Mr. Max Irwin's supervision, was one of Donna Lightfoot's jobs on the business staff.

Photography duties were shared by Kayla Ragan, Larry Chapman, and Bobby Talbert. Senior Keith Crim gathered materials and, with assistance, edited the sports section.

Selling ads was the job assigned to Richard Rogers, Janice Cleckler, Susan Prestridge, Stephanie Roe, Steve Jeter and Pam Chapman...Last minute rush job of indexing was given to Susan Prestridge and Janice Cleckler

Quill and Scroll inducts seventeen members

Recommendation for membership into International Quill and Scroll depends on junior classification, good grades, and outstanding work in the journalism field, and recognition from a publication sponsor. With only a small membership most of the year until juniors were eligible, the club was not active. In the spring, however, 17 members were inducted, and activities were planned. Members came from the journalism classes, the Battery, Flashlight and Aquila staffs.

TAP Carnival surpasses $12,000 for MOD

Eleven people served on the Executive Board of the March of Dimes. These people were in charge of all TAP (Teen Action Program) activities that take place during the year. This group along with a similar one from Cooper made several trips in order to learn more about the March of Dimes organization.

Sponsor of the group was Mr. Max Irwin and co-chairman of the Executive Board Committee was Shane Fox from AHS and Darlene Moore from Cooper. The group was in charge of the MOD Queen and all TAP Carnival activities. Due to their work, the TAP Carnival made $12,000 this year. This is the most money the group has ever made for the March of Dimes. "They worked so others could walk."

Hours of practice rewarded by high rating

Preparing half-time shows for football games and concerts for various school functions were among the many tasks performed by AHS's marching and symphonic bands this year.

Long hours of practice, defying rain and cold weather, netted a Class I rating in the fall University Interscholastic League marching contest.

Football programs, fruitcake sales, scrap iron drives and the annual Chili Day enabled the band to raise funds needed to participate in the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi this spring.

Other spring activities included the UIL concert and sightreading contests, the band picnic and the annual spring concert.

Malettes for 1970-71 were Darlene Belcher, Patt Burks, Debbie Harper, Sharon John, Bonnie Young, Cathey Allen, head twirler.

David Rodriguez, Tony Davis, Mike Wilhelm, Cindy Parker, Eddy Maynard, Kenny George, Danny Jenkins, Pam Hendrix, Becky Cagle, Nancy McGinnis, Ken McBride, Gaylon Pricer, Mike Wood, Mark Surface, Robb Spiller, Letha Miller, Cary Billingsley, Bobby Talbert, Ronnie Mayfield. ## Orchestra is available as city entertainment

One of the goals gained by being an orchestra member is harmony, socially and musically. With special training, students gain ability to and play different orchestra literature.

Orchestra members entertained at local club meetings, PTA meetings and banquets. Joining with other musical groups, the orchestra presented other programs in the city. In addition, several special quartets accompany the orchestra in civic presentations.

Paul B. Kelly directed the sixteen members in providing with various orchestral services. He was regional chairman of the All-Region Orchestra, sponsored at AHS for the first time. This was Mr. Kelly's sixth year at AHS.

Club sponsored picture of the year contest

Various projects around the AHS campus were undertaken by the 25 membered Art Club. The club sponsored a contest in which a picture of the year was chosen. The pictures were hung in the halls, and the students voted on their favorite one. The winning art piece was hung in the library. Teachers may use these pictures in classroom demonstrations or simply for decoration. In the spring an art sale was held in the foyer of the auditorium. Money earned from the sale was used to buy or make a sculpture for school decoration.

Art Club members, under the direction of Mrs. Myrtalee Bennett, set up a booth at the TAP carnival in which their own works were sold.

Utilizing a club period to do some delicate molding with clay on his pottery project is Ricky Ervin, sophomore art student.

Volunteers perform routine library chores

Bringing together students interested in the library and its work was the main objective of the Library Club. They performed routine tasks such as checking out books and magazines, shelving the material after its use, assisting with processing new books and helping fellow student to use the library.

On Mondays when the club met, members discussed problems encountered in the library or gave book talks. Although the club had no specific project, the members were involved in all of the activities of the library. Membership is voluntary in the club which is sponsored by Mrs. Martha Garraway and Miss Dorothy Sherman. One social event was the annual Christmas party.

Rehab Center receives donations from DE

Distributive Education Clubs of America are designed to compliment and continue lessons which are learned in class and on the job.

Participation in DE produces a respect for education, which in turn contributes to vocational competency and development of leadership in the fields of marketing and distribution. This program also helps its members understand the responsibilities of citizenship in the free, competitive enterprise system.

Raising funds for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center by selling calendars and the annual banquet honoring the employers of the students participating in the DE course were among the activities of the year.

Entering area DECA contests were Sandra Frugia in job interview, and Johnny Garrett and David Allen in sales demonstrations. Winning in area, David went to state competition. A candidate for honorary state president, Johnny also attended the meet. Both were voting delegates.

Attention is directed to the front of the room as Johnny Garrett speaks to the club during a meeting.

VOE represented at March district contest

Membership in the Vocational Office Education Club is limited to students in the office education classes. Mrs. Ouida Harkey, a new member in the Vocational Department, was sponsor.

The VOE Club introduces students to the business world and helps them to make vocational choices. Training in class and club work and on the job improve skills in office work.

VOE members represented AHS at the district contest in March. Members entered contests in business spelling, clerical arithmetic, job application, and adding machines.

Social events included a joint banquet in April with Cooper's VOE Club. The two groups honored the employers of club members.

In order to enter a contest, Nora Ernest, Lisa Gaeke and Sheri Loyd check details for use of the 10-key adding machine.

In the maze of automobile transmissions, engines and fuel systems, twenty-nine boys of auto mechanics groped their way through learning auto mechanism perfections under the direction of Mr. Travis Smith, sponsor.

In the fall seven boys placed third in a chapter ceremony in a district meet of Vocational Industrial Co-operative Clubs in Fort Stockton, Texas. These boys were Paul Bishop, Maxey Chittum, Steve Freudenberg, Joey Harris, Tim Jenkins, Phil Mitchell and Kenneth Terry. The boys also entered a spring district meet Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27, here in Abilene. At this meet skill speed projects were shown, similar to those which were on display in the showcase here at AHS.

Coif-of-month contest paves way for state

Preparations and planning were major objectives of the Cosmetology club under the supervision of Mrs. Willeen Roberts.

Abilene was the site for the spring contest this year. "Hairstyle of the Month" contests prepared girls for competition in the event. Each month an outstanding junior and senior student was selected. Choice was determined upon the basis of her responsibility, working ability and leadership.

Other activities carried on through the school year were a Christmas tea, a flower booth at the TAP carnival, the district meet in Fort Stockton where the officers won first place in chapter of ceremonies, and the state meet in San Antonio.

Chosen outstanding senior student in Cosmetology for the school year 1970-71 was VICA club president Debbi Blanchard.

Also receiving an outstanding honor in Cosmetology for the school year 1970-71 was first year student Patricia Gonzales.

COSMETOLOGY—BOTTOM ROW: Patricia Gonzales, Sharon Robeson, secretary; Paula Needham, Jane Carter, vice-president; Patsi Young, treasurer; Debbi Blanchard, president; Lee Ann Young. ## DP students offered invaluable instruction

Invaluable instruction was given to AHS students who participated in the Data Processing club and class. The program was set up to acquaint the students with job opportunity and job situation in the data processing field.

During the past year, second year students wrote more Symbolic Programming Systems and did more programming to prepare for the future. Math students of AHS started going into Data Processing on their own to learn about the operation of computers.

Members of the club that attended the district contest in Odessa were eligible to go to Austin for the state contest which was held in March for the Office Education Association Chapter of Data Processing.

Sponsors of the DP club were Mr. Fred Stirman and Mr. Paul Dennis.

Senior data-processing student, David Morris, works on an assignment by using a key-punch machine

Opportunities branch from electrical trades

Life-time careers often emerge from electrical trades. Telephone, motor winder, pole line construction, maintenance electrician and automatic control technician are among the fields of study for which electrical trades prepare students, reported Mr. Ross Plant, the sponsor.

Parliamentary procedure, job application and student selected jobs were categories entered in the district and state meets attended in the fall and spring by electrical trades members.

Members were encouraged to establish realistic vocational goals and learn respect for dignity in work.

Abilene High's newest Vocational Industrial Club, Chapter 1009, was organized this fall. Students enrolled in the radio and television repair class were eligible for membership.

Club members, under the sponsorship of Mr. Henry Keith, prepared their projects for the district-regional meet at AHS and the state meet in San Antonio.

Vocationally related the Machine Shop Club headed by Mr. John Har low is helpful for young men who plan on going into any mechanical or engineering fields such as manufacturing parts for helicopters, airplanes, and automobiles.

Students who make projects during class are given an opportunity to enter them in club contests which could send them on to district and state final competition.

Clubs emphasize drafting and woodworking

Using only glue or wood screws, members of the Industrial Arts Wood shop Club constructed various projects from love seats and clocks to stereo cabinets.

Under the supervision of Mr. Joe Harwell, members worked with machines such as the radial arm saw, uniplane and others in preparation for contests. Initial elimination competition was at Abilene Christian College in April; the State Fair was in Austin in May.

Another Industrial Arts Club, sponsored by Mr. W. A. Owens, centered around the promotion of interest in the field of industrial drafting. The Abilene High chapters have membership in the Texas Industrial Arts Student Association.

Twelve members, both boys and girls, used the club periods to work on drafts. Membership was limited to students enrolled in technical, architectural and general drafting courses.

Spring employer-employee banquet hosted

Writing letters to students at Abilene State School who never receive any mail was just one of the programs carried on during FHA week by Mrs. Sue Day's FHA Scroll Chapter

Home Economics Cooperative Education members go to school in the morning and work in home economic related occupations in the afternoon. Food service, child care, nutrition, clothing, home management, floristry, and interior decoration aid were some of the areas in which members of the Scroll Chapter of FHA worked.

In the spring, the members hosted an Employer-Employee banquet at Lytle Shores Auditorium. Also held in the spring was a garage sale for a money raising project.

FHA works on school, community clean-up

Variety was provided to the Future Homemakers of America by a program designed to cover all phases of personal and community living.

Activities got underway with a fall get-acquainted party and terminated with a spring banquet. Wide-spread club functions also included a Christmas party at the Abilene State School and provision of tray favors for the hospital's children's ward.

They also participated in the TAP, and a clean up campaign in both school and community, provided entertainment for the rest homes and wrote letters to State School students who receive no mail. Club programs emphasized our world drug problems and family happiness.

All FHA members were invited to participate in the area convention in March. Only two members from each chapter attended the state convention in April.

Equipment that will be used to teach sewing at the Locust Center is packaged by Mary Colbert, Delores Jiles, Elaine Bush, Linda Stevens, and Mary Smotherman.

Plans for the trip to FHA Area Convention at Stephenville are discussed by delegates Elaine Bush, Debbie Keith, Margaret Sanders, and Rhonda Caffey. In preparation for state degree, Judy Watson checks entries in her notebook.

Students seriously interested in teaching as a profession were offered the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the profession by working in the organization of Future Teachers of America.

Observing and cadet teaching are two of the many activities of the FTA Club. Participating in the regional conference and state convention, and assisting teachers' professional meetings were other activities included in the club agenda.

Participating in the Twenty-second Annual State Convention, held February 26 and 27 in Houston, were Marsha Westmoreland, State Historian, and Jena Bodine, a candidate for State Historian '71-'72.

Mr. Roland Blackford, Mrs. Odilia Jones, Miss Joyce Abbott, and Mrs. Margaret Sawyer were sponsors for the approximately one hundred future teachers.

Delegates for the FTA State Convention in Houston were Carla Bacon, Marsha Westmoreland, Diane Jividen, Dennis Shepherd, Vicki Buck, Richard Aguirre, Judy Thomas, Maranna Murphy, Jena Bodine and John Reyna.

Speakers, films provide versatile program

Development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship are just a few of the well-aimed goals set forth by the Future Farmers of America.

Judging contests and preparing trained teams for livestock, meets, land and dairy product competition were central interests of the FFA.

Selection of sweetheart began with each class choosing one nominee whose name was then submitted to the chapter for the vote. Chosen 1970-71 Sweetheart was junior Stephanie Roe.

Versatility of club programs was maintained by a variety of speakers including veterinarians, farmers, ranchers and game wardens. Classroom instruction was supplemented by films on related topics.

Desiring to provide an in-depth understanding of Spanish culture, The Pan American club was organized with 45 members.

In an early year club meeting Mr. Larry Dooley, viewed and discussed slides of previous Pan-American trips to Mexico. A later speaker, Father Valladerez of St. Vincent Pallotti Catholic Church, provided an interesting and informative talk on his native land of Spain.

Two groups operated independently under sponsors, Miss Lynda Collins and Mr. Joe Alcorta. Both groups came together for the Christmas dinner at La Posada Restaurant, with all members invited to Pam Marshall's home afterward. Combined efforts went into the fund-raising Pan Am dinner, February 6. Proceeds from the event served to reduce the costs of a trip to Mexico at Easter.

Months of bondage end with spring season

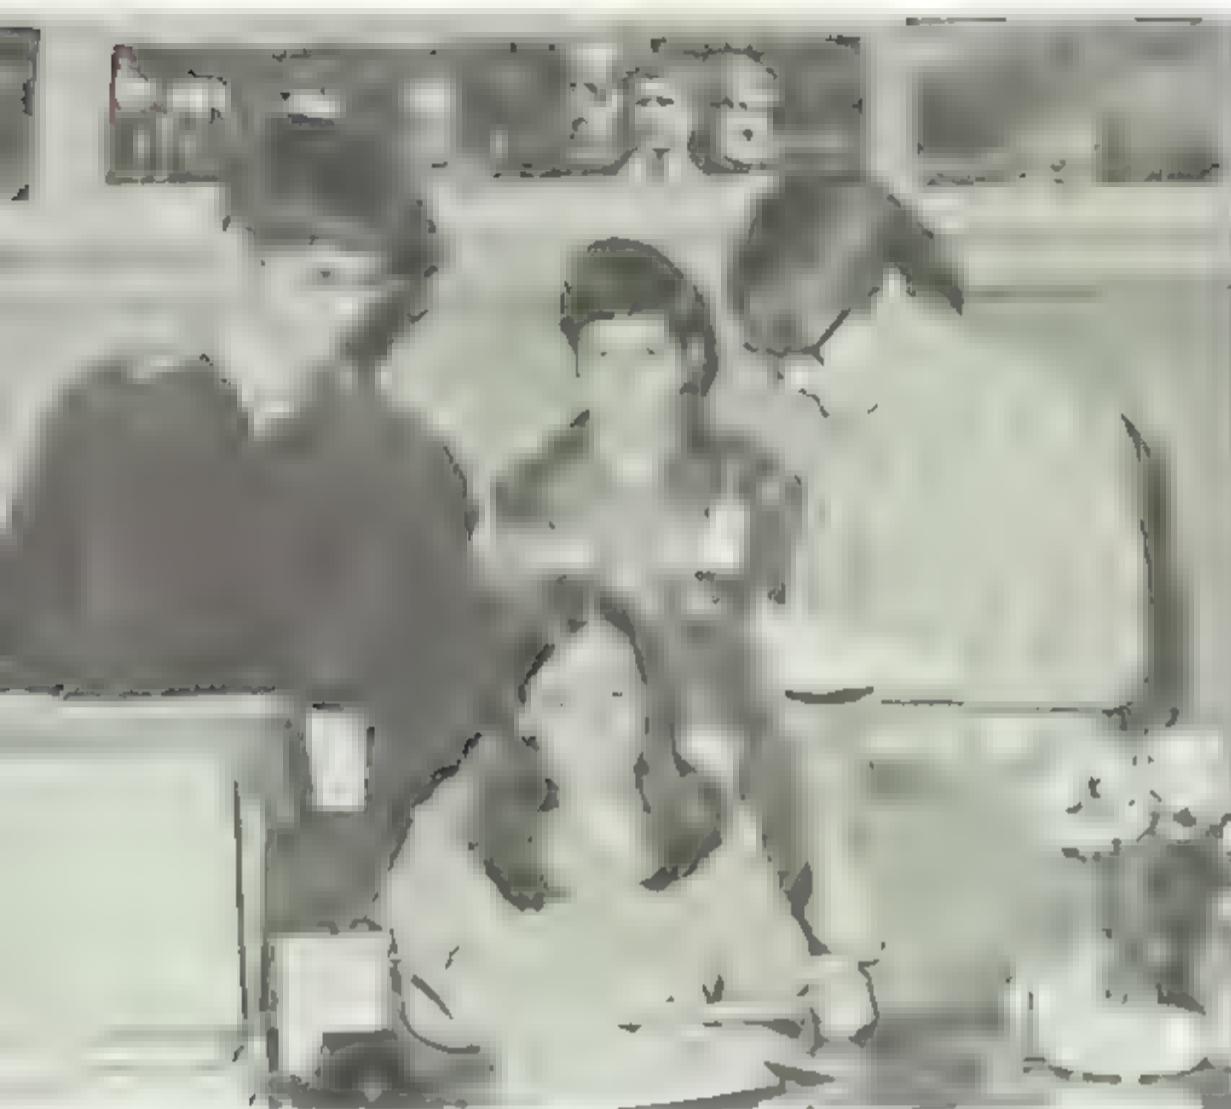

Approximately 35 new slaves, garbed in tunics, were informed of their various duties at the annual Roman Forum auction in December. Throughout their year of bondage to their masters, slaves could only anticipate being freed in the spring.

Club members worked on contest materials, listened to speakers, and planned activities during club meetings. Different activities and games occupied the member's time at a recreational hour during the Christmas holiday. It was held in the Student Center at ACC.

The Roman banquet and the contest sponsored by the Junior Classical League Association were included in the spring agenda. Mrs. Joyce Jay, sponsor, coordinated the functions of the Roman Forum.

An opportunity to learn the German language, customs, and system of education, available to any student enrolled in a German class, was again supplemented by membership in the German Club.

Old and new traditions of both Germany and America were combined and exemplified in the celebration of Ludwig Van Beethoven's 400th birthday, December 16, at the YMCA. Since Beethoven was a Sagittarius, astrology was included with students' portraits of the composer and German traditions in the decorations.

Beethoven was brought to the club's attention earlier when members received tickets to a performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony by the Abilene Philharmonic.

In the spring, the club attended the convention of the Texas Association of German students.

Impersonating Beethoven, Lieutenant Colonel Ed Stopp escorted Frau Leichner to a dinner commemorating the composer's birthday. Becky Whaley finds an assortment of sweets available at the Christmas party. Music selections suitable for the mood of the German TAP Carnival booth was the responsibility of Jane Boggs and David Hand.

Fishing as a sport and leisure time activity has been enjoyed for thousands of years. The need of such a relaxation in modern times is recognized by the newly formed Fisherman's Club.

Casting, brush fishing, and water safety were important areas of concern to Mr. Matt Reese, sponsor. Guest speakers emphasized the variety of different lures and casting methods. Practical experience was combined with knowledge of fishing techniques in trips to Fort Phantom Lake. In all activities, courtesy to be observed toward others was stressed and observed by the 35 members.

Gathering information for discussion, Fisherman's club members Macario Romero, Donnie Miller and Marvin Long look at sports magazines

Primary goals generate tennis club interest

To add a little to the tennis program at school, and to generate an interest in the game are the main goals of the Tennis Club.

Visits to the tennis clinic, conducted at Rose Park and the spring tournaments participated in by club members were some of the activities. Speakers from the clinic came and spoke to club members and presented films on techniques used in playing tennis. At the tennis clinic, films were made of club members while they were in action. These were discussed at club meetings, and mistakes made by other members were pointed out.

Sponsoring the club for this first year were Mr. R. A. Crawford, tennis coach.

Professional golfers lead club discussions

Although the game of golf is an old one, it is still popular at AHS. Fans as well as AHS golf team members made up the Golf Club.

According to the golf team coach, Glen Cleveland, the purpose of the club is to interest people and to inform them about the sport of golf. The club points out that golf is a game for everyone—young or old. It is a sport that can be played for a lifetime.

Instructions were obtained through films in the classroom and discussions by members and professional golfers on different courses.

Plans for future tournaments were made by golf team captains, who were elected after the season started.

Techniques in golf are explained to Chas Michel by Coach Cleaveland; then Chas plays Instructor as he explains the same techniques to Shane Fox.

Mathematics, history change with the times

Discovery and unity were common desires of the new Math Club, designed to increase its members' understanding of mathematics.

Activities included a Christmas party, discussions of computers, work with the transient and two special group studies, one dealing with programming and the other on practicing for the Texas Universal Interscholastic League exams. Fifth semester math students with a "B" average or above were eligible for the National Math Club.

Math and history have one common denominator, for both change with the times. Organized with the purpose of investigating history developments from Red China to the Middle East situation was the International Relations group.

Members were given the opportunity of hearing foreign war veteran, Captain David Hutchins, Pastor Robert Douglas and Mr. Naranda Vyas of India.

The group of seventeen students participated in debate contests, tournaments and Interscholastic League events in cities such as Dallas, Denton, Midland, Abilene and Brownwood. High on the awards list were seconds in debate and sweepstakes at Sunset in Dallas. In Denton, they won third place in debate; one member advanced to finals in extemporaneous speaking and one in poetry reading. Other tournaments netted awards for their group which was open to anyone interested in debate.

Pointers on preparing for debate are given to Jenny Whitten and Norma Twilla by senior Oliver Perkins, member of a debating team.

Endeavors shared by club and Eagle band

Band members who were willing to put forth extra effort became members of the AHS Band Club, where they concentrated on increasing skills at sight-reading, classical, light-classical, contemporary and impressionistic music. To help increase the efficiency of endeavors to learn new styles, professional recordings were heard in relation to reading the numbers.

Working in close affiliation with the Eagle Band, the Band Club also used club periods to rehearse for assemblies and contests. Parties, social functions, and money-making projects were connected with the Eagle Band.

Assisting the band club and Eagle band in money-raising endeavors was the Band Parents' Club. The parents' fruit cake sale and assistance in the Chili Day were instrumental in enabling the band to journey to Corpus Christi for the Buccaneer Music Festival.

Mr. Tony Anderson is in his third year of director of the band and related activities.

Easter story adds color to Cooper concert

Choir club is an organization founded with the purpose of giving interested students the opportunity to sing large choral works with orchestral accompaniment.

Club periods were taken up by rehearsals for a performance at the end of the year at Cooper High School. The arrangement given in concert was "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison" written by Johann Sebastian Bach. The selection was a cantata which covered the crucifixion of Christ and took the Easter story through the time Jesus was in the tomb and ends with the resurrection on the third day after the crucifixion.

Utilizing club time for music preview, members Thom Edwards, Reba Hart, Bill Taylor and Susan Prestridge keep in practice

Exchange students meet new people, sights

Vivid human awareness was the dominate result of the Exchange Club's event-packed two-week trip to Waterford, Michigan.

While on the trip, the students learned about American history, the automobile industry, the way schools operated in different sections of the country, and mingled with people in different parts of America.

Requirements for being in the Exchange Club include having a grade average of "B," having three-fourths of the money needed for the trip and money to entertain the other group. Each of the participants had a desire to travel, meet new people and learn new things.

The 30 exchange students and their sponsors, Mrs. Jo Dooley and Mr. Ray Inzer, hosted the group from Michigan March 15.

AHS Exchange Club students Gary Ruska, Cindy Herndon and Kyle Kimbrough look over correspondence from their exchanges in Michigan.

Mimeographing exchange bulletins for the exchangees visit from Michigan Debbie Nie Gecken plans their activities. Sightseers were allowed some time for clowning as is Dale Henry while imitating "The Thinker" in front of the museum of Michigan.

Experimental presentations added in drama

Under the new name of Drama '71, Abilene High thespians ran the gamut from experimenting to major productions.

"Showcase," the first production of an experimental theater called "Stage Center," consisted of duet acting scenes which were prepared for tournaments. Scenes were performed before a limited audience of 30 each showing because of the seating arrangement on the stage. This was experimented during September.

"Kaleidoscope," consisting of "Humulus, the Mute" by Jean Ano with, "The Brick and the Rose" by Lewis John Carlino, and "The Autograph Hound" by James Prideaux were presented during the month of November for a paid audience.

Drama '71's major production was given during February was "Under Milkwood" by Dylan Thomas. This play terminated the season.

"Shut up!" exclaimed Harry Hooten (George Berry) to his wife (Denise Dendy) and daughter (Linda Brannum) in a scene from "Autograph Hound". Gossiping women of the town swing "poor Mr. Wal do" (Max Hurst) in a dream sequence from "Under Milkwood". Gwennie (Candy Beall) squeals with delight as she is kissed at recess by a little boy (Max Barker).

On-the-job training benefits ICT students

Because of its program, the Vocational Industrial Club, Chapter 69, attracted students who were interested in on-the-job training while in high school. Being enrolled in an Industrial Cooperative class permits membership in the club.

Varied programs provided information about opportunities in the vocational fields and requirements for employment.

In club work members worked toward specific goals for contest events. Competition at Area I Youth Conference in Abilene ranged from skill speed and job application to student notebooks and parliamentary procedure.

Club president Becky Martin presides over an ICT meeting. Attending were David Lollar, Sally Miller, Paula Akard, Celeste Kelton, Kerry Thornton and Robert McBride. Karen Goetz and Joanna Wagner spend their working time as medical lab technicians. ICT student Paula Akard represents the club in presenting Mr. Decker with a pet skunk for Christmas.

Underline.

Underlining a word puts special emphasis on it.

Take a pencil. Write "Abilene Christian College." Underline "Christian." That's the first emphasis at ACC — in teachers, dorm life, daily life and classes.

Now underline "College." ACC is a fully accredited, highly respected college with 66 majors and a 19 to 1 teacher to student ratio.

Now underline "Abilene." ACC is close. You can live at home or go home often. No big travel bills, or coming home only on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

When you think about college, think ACC — and underline it. Write for information to:

Undecided emotions accompany our parting

We leave—
With memories of victory, defeat,
joy and sadness.
Some are reluctant;
others ecstatic;
many concerned
With what the future holds in store for us.
Our past has faded
into obscurity . . .
Tomorrow lies ahead.

the Granda

the old days, but almost all of them are still there and some are still there. And there will be more and more of us who will not be able to change anything. But we will try and make the situation better.

These are facts,

and these are very important

with the new ones

which all come from the old ones

and the old and the new ones

and the old ones
